

We've Got The Look The Military Ball

A night of elegance and beauty, the JROTC Griffin Batallion had gathered for the night's event. "It was one of the most memorable nights of my life," commented Monique Belton. "The food was delicious. The music was prepared well by the DJ. Everything was just splendid!" The cadets danced and laughed with friends and awaited the announcing of the King and Queen. Announcing the honor would be Orlando Ruff, Batallion Commander.

The cafeteria, which was nicely decorated, became quiet. Marcus Kennedy and Shavonda McConnell were announced King and Queen of the Military Ball. "I was shocked and unbelievably excited," raved Queen, Shavonda McConnell. "I can't believe I'm Queen of the Military Ball!" Marcus Kennedy went further to say, "There were probably many others who deserved it but I'm honored to have won. I guess I'll have something pretty interesting to tell my family when I get home."

The guys wore their uniforms and the female cadets wore party dresses. "The uniforms we wear every week looked different here," implied Faith Johnson. "Maybe this night makes a difference. It won't be such a pain now getting up and putting the uniform on now that I see that they look good on us."

The cadets of the Griffin Batallion had a marvelous time at the event of the year. They danced, ate, socialized, and had an all around wonderful time. They were all looking forward to when they could do it again next year. Army instructor, Master Sgt. David Taft commented, "Everything came together perfectly."

Just Lovely
Posing for one of the many pictures taken, Monica Dadzie, Kenisha Askins, and Tekia Butler wear their smiles and dresses well for the occasion.

Dancin' Machines
The cadets and their dates enjoy themselves dancing.