

Looking Back

Summertime Blues

Over the summer many students went to summer camps around the state. One of the camps that some students went to this year was JROTC camp at Fort Jackson. "I really liked meeting new people at JROTC camp this summer," reflects Sophomore, Erica Hennessee. JROTC cadets spent a week at Fort Jackson triumphing over obstacle courses and taking classes. After a couple of days of getting up at 4:00 a.m. and through training sessions in the heat of the day, many cadets were wishing for the comforts of home—especially air conditioning and "real food."

Members of the yearbook staff went to camp in NC to learn the basics of putting together a yearbook. Yearbook staff member, Angela Bowers, remembers, "going to yearbook camp was an experience for me that I'll never forget.

We had a lot of work to keep us busy and up most of the night."

One summer camp that a small number of students were chosen to attend was the summer program at the Governor's School for Science and Mathematics in Hartsville, SC.

All Together Now, Smile
The cheerleaders pose for a picture with the male cheerleaders at Coastal Carolina University.

Pocahantas and Friend
Meredith Brown and Kim Baty smile at the camera as they show off their regalias for the Pow-Wow.

Teen Institute
With advisor Danny Miller, our members of Teen Institute went to summer camp to learn the preventions of drug and alcohol use.