

“Ah, Picasso, no?”

“I love art because it is a way for me to express my feelings and creativity,” remarks Art II student, Regan Fantry.

Art students this year are continuing their tradition of decorating the school and the county with their extremely creative pieces of art. Students' works of art are often displayed in many businesses in the county, and also helps to make the main office concourse a brighter place to be.

One of the many reasons that so many students enjoy taking art is because of their teacher, Mr. Kinard. Mr. Kinard believes that everyone has creative abilities, and whether you can draw or not, you can still create memorable art pieces. In Mr. “K’s” class, not only do you learn valuable lessons for art, you also learn valuable lessons for life.

Mr. Kinard is celebrating being selected as the South Carolina Art Education President-Elect and 1995 Conference Program Chair. His leadership abilities and warm personality will be an asset to the organization and the arts education community.

Mr. Kinard was also selected by the school district as the district art coordinator. His role is to organize meetings and exhibits for the district's visual art program.

Art students are not being recognized in the school alone. The art club, comprised of Art I and Art II students, was recognized in the Homecoming parade. Miss Art and the Art Club president represented their department in the parade.

This year has been one of the most exciting and rewarding for art students. Hopefully, in the years to come, students will be able to succeed in art and know what succeeding really is.

“This looks like a good color . . . ”
Rodrick Gaither works on his piece of art in his Art I class.

“Watch the hair!”
Amy Young glazes a bowl while trying to keep her hair out of the way.

