

Art

Above: Terrance Walker and Jermaine Jackson sneak in a little conversation during art class.

Left: Gerald Cook smiles to himself as he finishes his work in art class.

Art is a universal language. Just about anywhere in the world you go you will encounter art. Art is the Mona Lisa, the Great Sphinx, the Grand Canyon and the Devil's Armchair. Students who enroll in Art classes at Fairfield Central High School will be exposed to all forms of great art.

This year the Art department enjoyed its largest enrollment in the past ten school years. This year Mr. Kinard has the students painting murals on the concourse and cafeteria walls, as well as displaying their paintings and drawings on the school's hallways. Each year Mr. Kinard sponsors an Art fair to show off the creative talent of his students. Also, several Fairfield Central students entered artwork in the State Fair Competition, with two of them receiving ribbons! Students enrolled in art classes will travel to art museums throughout the state for inspiration and education. In all, students learn about a wide variety of art and culture through exploration.

A. Hood and D. Ashford