

There will come a time in our lives when we will want to look back to our past; old memories and times with our friends will have a special meaning. Even if we don't realize it now, we will look to our teachers with deep appreciation for their sincere concern for our futures. This sincerity is a great inspiration to us all. We should show our appreciation by trying to cooperate with them and by keeping our school clean and organized for future students.

Our faculty and administration strive to set an example for each Fairfield Junior High student.

We should try to achieve these goals set for us.
