

So time has passed, passed with the silver wings of knowing and not knowing and ended its short flight with only the doleful ding-dong of the clock to mark its flight.

THE END