Class Poet

CLASS POEM

As We, the class of '55 stand on the threshold of the future,
Looking out into the regions beyond,
We take one last fleeting glance into the past
Remembering with mixed emotions, our twelve years of schooling.
Recalling with a smile, our joyous days of fellowship.
Our athletics, clubs, plays, proms, and classes, Thinking back to those dear teachers who spurred us on to our goal, storing up the memories which may fade,
but will never die.
And now, with deep appreciation for her loving guidance,
We bid farewell to Mount Zion, the light on the hill.
