

TOWN CLOCK

The Wimsboro town clock has run continuously for 100 years. The clock was made before the War Between the States and hauled to Wimsboro from Charleston in wagons. The old public market occupied the ground floor of the town clock. The Confederate monument stands on the square in front of the town clock. Today the building houses the offices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Jaycees.

ADVERTISEMENTS