

SENIOR CLASS POEM

"Purpose"

by Marvin Jennings

Who, what, when, where, and why
Are questions you may ask.
Who are you?
What is your task?
When do you live, where, and why?

We are the class of nineteen hundred and seventy-four,
Our fathers, mothers,
Sisters, and brothers,
Our teachers to us have given
the key.
The key to the door.

With this key to the door,
The door that must be opened,
Goes a trust that we will honor.
To make for them and ourselves
The earth of the "morrow."
Through this door we enter
To find the Truth, the Light,
The Universal Center.

A LOOK AT THE SENIORS IN 1984

MARTHA HASLETT has won a gold medal in this year's Olympics as shot-put champion.

BILLY REYNOLDS is president of a newly-founded organization, Alcoholics Unanimous.

JOHNNY PATRICK has just accumulated his 10,000th game of Putt-Putt.

IVEY MATTHEWS is taking an ACTIVE part in a peace rally in Washington.

DALE DREW is Commissioner of South Carolina Electric and Gas!

DAN RUFF (alias Curly) is incensing fans all over the world as a member of the Harlem Globetrotters as he streaks down the court to retrieve a pass from Medowlark.

MARY SWEARINGEN now holds the world's record for talking forty-eight hours non-stop.

FLEMING McMASTER is a professor at Clemson University, teaching speed-reading.

HAZEL MONTEITH (Wife of the Year) is supporting her husband faithfully as he continues in Law School.

MARVIN JENNINGS is a lawyer, but unfortunately he is in jail for contempt of court.

ANN DICKEY is now employed as mayor, city manager, and general store owner of Dark Corner.

KEITH COLLINS is working for the Sanitation Department. (That way his mind can stay in the gutter!)

ALISON ESTES is now a social worker, still trying to get Keith out of the gutter.
