

Town Clock

The Winnsboro Town Clock was built in 1833. The works were ordered from Alsace, France. They were superior in quality, for the clock holds the record for having been in constant use longer than any other clock in the United States. The lower portion of the town clock was once used as a slave market and it is a valued historical structure in Winnsboro.

