

Eagles Soar to Victory

The 1979 Eagles, overlooked by most as serious contenders but led by an outstanding group of senior athletes, entered the season with spirits high. Records fell like opponents — Alex Westbrook's 1,057 yards in only nine games; 46 points in the first half against King; and finally, the 56-7 victory over Catawba. For Richard Winn it was truly "the year of the Eagle."
