

Aerie Captures a Year to Remember

Through much hard work and determination, the seventeen member staff achieved their goal of a bigger and better annual for Richard Winn. Their enthusiasm was also shown by the students' selling a record number of ads as well as the most subscriptions ever. Additional pages and a cover that could become a tradition were financed by the twelve juniors and five seniors.

Several students learned about yearbook publication at the Summer Yearbook Workshop sponsored by Taylor Publishing Company. The workshop was held on the Columbia College campus and ran for three days. These students gained valuable first hand experience as well as learning through a series of lectures and films.

1.

2.

3.

4.

1. STAFF EDITORS: Debbie Hinnant, Terri Moore, Louise McNeely, Jeffrey Oxner, Laura Mattox, Lisa Sanders.
2. Students gather for Summer Yearbook Workshop at Columbia College.
3. PHOTOGRAPHERS: Debbie Hinnant and Barbara Saunders.
4. 1981 AERIE STAFF: (Front Row) Sara Stewart, Lisa Enlow, Mary Ann Gunter, Louise McNeely; (Second Row) Terri Moore, Julie Brooks, Lib Turner, Debbie Hinnant, Karen Douglas; (Third Row) Jeffrey Oxner, Brian White, Laura Mattox, Lisa Sanders, Chris Chibbaro, Locke Doty; (Fourth Row) Woodward Peay, Stevie Mattox.
5. Mrs. Margaret McNeely, Sponsor, confers with students.
6. Julie Brooks, Editor

5.

6.