

A Special Note for This Edition

Like much of Winnsboro and most of Richard Winn, the 1984 Aerie was somewhat scattered by the March 28 tornado. In spite of our losses, we decided to try to pick up the pieces and complete the yearbook. Having only six weeks to retrieve or replace a year's worth of work, the Aerie staff ardently worked to complete this issue. Due to the pressure of time and loss of materials, this annual may have a few rough edges. However, our staff feels that this edition will stand above all other editions for accurately recording the events that changed our lives.
