TONYA LYAN BABB

Memories

- trip to Crokin College February 14, 1986
- debate in Mrs. Murray's class
- the mushroom soup incident at Cric's!
- falling out of my desk in Coach Robinson's class. It was the only time I remember him laughing!
- Hilton Head crew trip '86
- "Ferris Bueller's Day Off"
- Tennis Team '87
- Graduation 1987
- Beauty Pageant - no. #23
- getting accepted at JMC
- missing Eric desperately over summer break '87!
- walking across Crokin's lawn, sleet started to fall, Cric gave me his jacket, he told me that he loved me for the 1st time & we got drunk at Hoy's Place & my first hangover!
- "Kilow Cage" + Villa Fonco's
- Hunt for Jelly Beans + getting lost in a bad section of town!

Tonya,

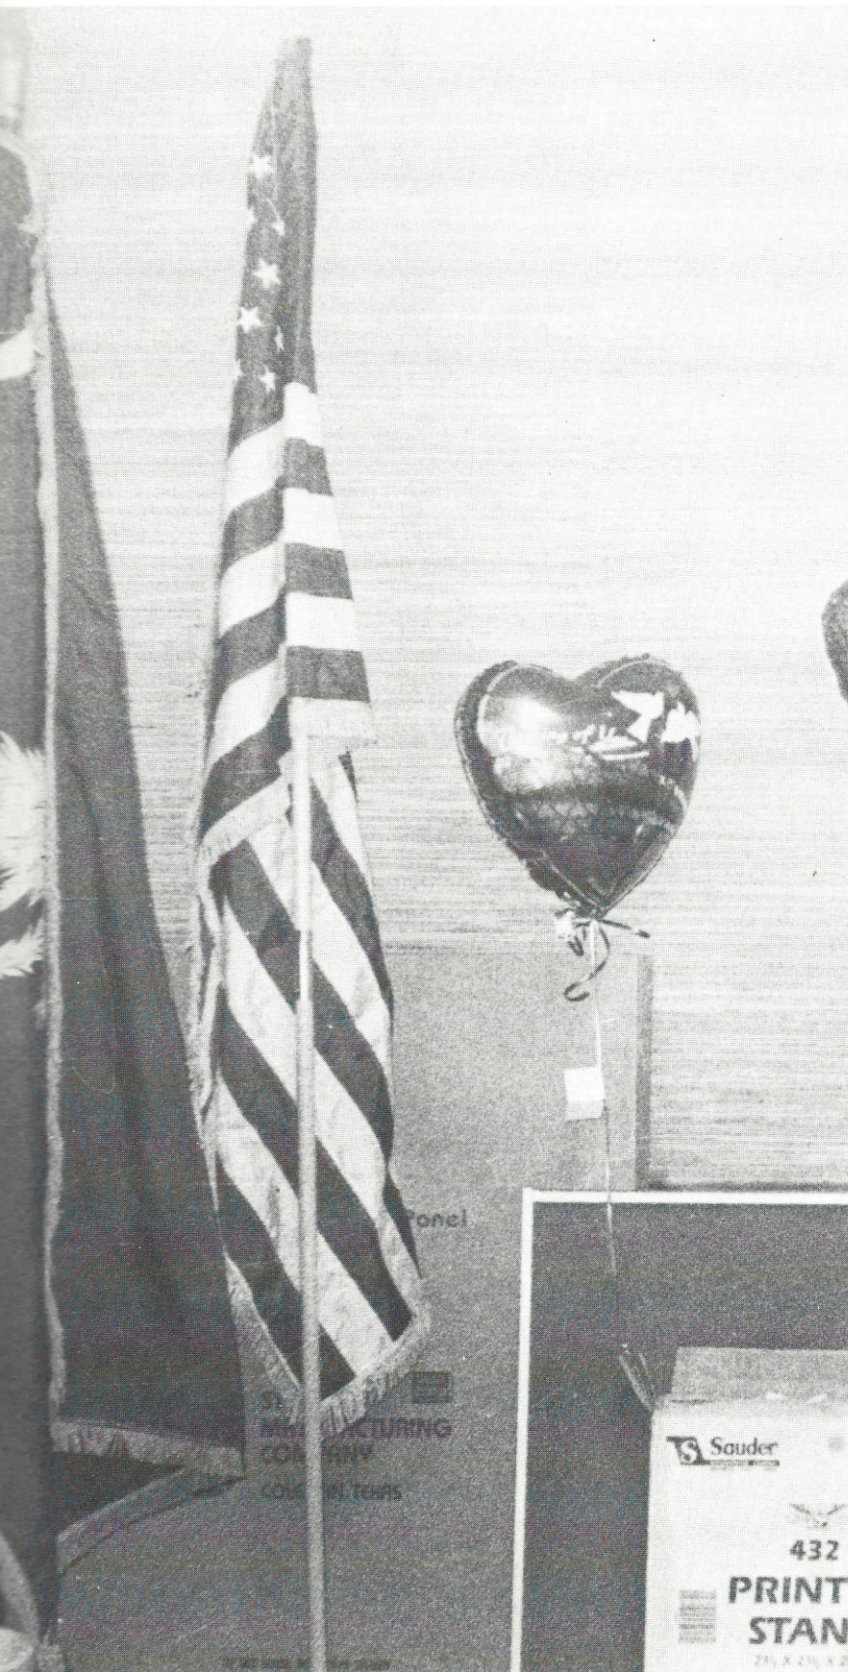

5/27/87

I, Eric Francis Catcart, being of sound mind and body do willfully and eternally will my one sole possession, my heart, to Miss Tonya Lynn Babb. This action which is solely my own accord is the product of many, uncontrolled emotions which I have harboured and contained in my heart for some time now. In fact, since the first day that I met you in homeroom, 11th grade. Remember this line when I looked on your books and said, "you must be Tonya Babb." I don't know what made me speak to you then but it was to change my life forever. As important as the battle of Gettysburg was to the Civil War, so was our first encounter. I'll always remember you, because I guess a good thing lost!

What I guess I'm trying to say is that I love you and always will. I never stopped and don't intend to. There will always be a place in my heart that will remain empty. If you ever decide to fill it back up, then just tell me. I'll be there. Even if I have to quit my job.

Love,

Eric

In today's world, almost every business has a symbol or logo to represent it. Mack Truck has its bulldog; McDonald's has its golden arches.

At Richard Winn we, too, have our symbols. The eagle represents our pride and competitive spirit. It is the opinion, however, of the Aerie staff that it is perhaps time that another symbol be introduced.

The symbol that we suggest will show our dedication to excellence and achievement in academics — the idea upon which Richard Winn Academy was founded. Because of this commitment to quality, gold was chosen as one of our school colors for gold has long been the standard by which the value of other things are judged. This color represents the high standards that RWA sets for its students.

It is appropriate, then, that our new symbol will be a standard or flag that is colored gold. It will be displayed to honor students who excel academically or exhibit high standards of character or citizenship. The new symbol is to be called The Gold Standard.

President Gail Goode prepares to hand out Christmas bonuses to the teachers and staff.

Goode Leads Active PTO

Under the strong leadership of this year's president, Mrs. Gail Goode, the P.T.O. had a particularly active and productive year.

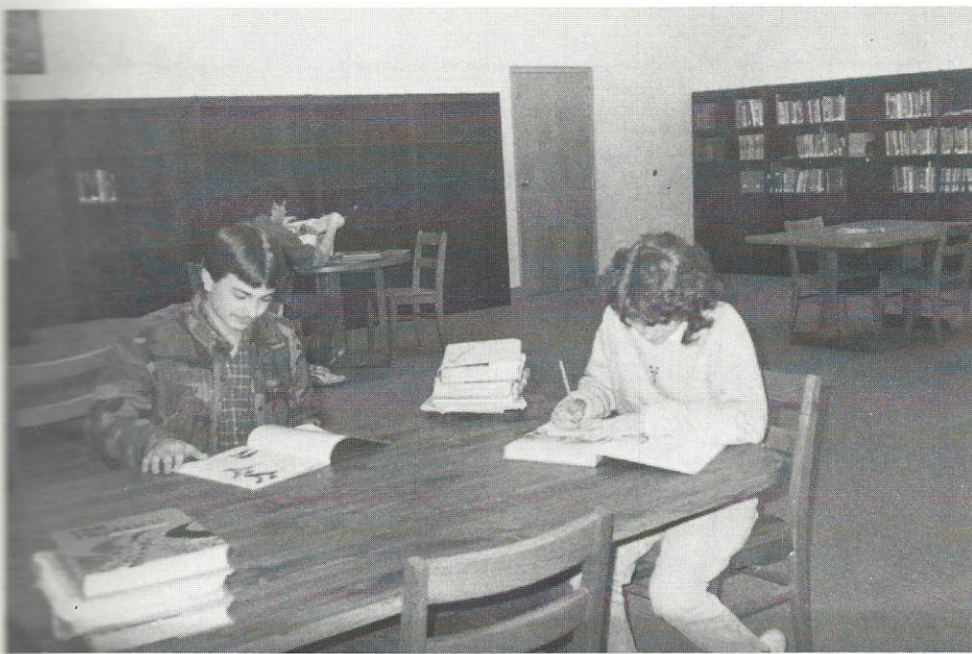

Traditionally, it has been the function of the P.T.O. to raise money to provide the school with educational aids and equipment. Two reading labs destroyed by the tornado were replaced. Funds were provided to help pay for a copying machine.

To show how much the teachers and staff are appreciated, the P.T.O. provided a luncheon and a small bonus before Christmas. The teachers were also given $25.00 to purchase classroom materials last fall.

Equally important, our P.T.O. encourages fun and fellowship through our annual square dance for the kids and the dinner dance for the parents. And in the spring, everyone enjoys the Faculty-Student basketball game and Mayfest.

Bonnie Myers and Gail Goode lay out the Christmas luncheon donated by the parents.

The money raised by the P.T.O. in 1985 is used to buy library tables.

Mrs. Murray uses the copying machine that the P.T.O. helped to purchase.

"Leave something for the rest of the teachers, Coach Robinson!"

AERIE '87 is Dedicated To the P.T.O.

The AERIE is pleased to recognize a tireless, dedicated organization — our P.T.O. Made up of parents and teachers, this group works towards enrichment and growth at Richard Winn Academy. The P.T.O. serves as a bonding agent between parents, teachers, and the administration, all with one goal in mind, a better school for our children.

Mini-Course Week Offers Variety

The week after exams was set aside as mini-course week in which students had the opportunity to learn outside of the classroom. Although the week was reduced to three days, those days were packed with interesting things to do.

Upper and middle school students enjoyed trips to Washington, the McKissick Museum, Fairfield County Courthouse, Fairfield Memorial Hospital, and a tour of the USC weight training facilities. Since the Junior's ski trip was cancelled due to bad weather, they went bowling in Columbia. Juniors and Sophomores went to Charlotte where they went to Discovery Place, the Federal Reserve Bank, and ice skating, while the Seniors took a course in etiquette taught by Mrs. Cleo Lewis at her home. Other activities included trips to the zoo, the State Hospital, the Fairfield County Library, the Congaree Swamp, and to Bob Jones University Art Gallery.

The courses at school included shag dancing, drug and alcohol abuse, water color, hair fashions, darkroom techniques, and Karate-self defense. Meteorologist Jim Gandy introduced students to weather forecasting and the Emergency Medical Service demonstrated CPR.

Giving the students learning experiences that are not offered in the classroom made mini-course week successful.

Steve Douglas, instructor at Winnsboro School of Karate-do, gives an exciting demonstration to middle school students. He also taught a course in techniques of self-defense.

Mrs. Cleo Lewis taught an etiquette course to upperclassmen at her home, Fairfield. The third day featured a luncheon in which she emphasized proper table etiquette.

Friendships Are Built To Last

The Class of 1987 is a unique group of close friends. Although we Seniors come from three different counties, the distance has not separated our special relationships. Some of us have been together since kindergarten; whereas, others have joined us through the years. Like links being added to a chain, we have become one. Our friendships have become stronger as we have grown. We have shared so many experiences with our tears and laughter. We've seen the destruction of our school and its rebirth. Not only have we grown and shared during the past years, but we have also accomplished. The Senior Class includes two Miss RWA's, two Miss Sweethearts, three overseas exchange students, and winners of the Boys and Girls' State Basketball Championships. We have been represented on the Academic Bowl Team, in Beta Club, on the PTO Board, in Boys and Girls' State, and on the AERIE as Editor and Business Manager. Through all of our school life we have become and will remain . . . Forever Friends.

Friends Are Friends Forever . . .

Hannah Phillips and Sandi Wright — the happy newlyweds.

Remember The Time . . .

Lee Dixon generously donated some of his own “water” to some mud pies in the first grade.

Rana Weed, Sandi Wright, and Hannah Phillips liked Brad Moore in the fourth grade; and Hannah and Rana were jealous when Brad chose Sandi and gave her a box of candy for Valentine’s Day.

Rod Taylor came to school without his shoes on.

Patrick McGuire wrote a note to his “favorite” teacher — Mrs. StinkWEED — and then ran away to the bathroom.

In computer class, everyone watched “Days of Our Lives” while Mrs. Taylor thought they were doing programs.

Bob Barnett, Perry Mattox, and Bill Barnett are showing off their supper.

The awesome five — Page Castles, Rana Weed, Sandi Wright, Esther McMaster, and Hannah Phillips.

Packing up the dreams God planted in the fertile soil of you.
Can't believe the Hopes He's granted, means a chapter in your life is through.
But we'll keep you close as always,
it won't even seem you've gone,
'Cause our hearts in big and small ways,
will keep the love that keeps us strong.
With the faith and love God's given,
springing from the hope we know.
We will pray the joy you'll live in,
is the strength that now you show.
But we'll keep you close as always,
it won't even seem you've gone.
'Cause our hearts in big and small ways,
will keep the love that keeps us strong.
And friends are friends forever
if the Lord's the Lord of them,
And a friend will not say never
'cause the welcome will not end
Though it's hard to let you go in the Father's hands we know,
That a lifetime's not too long,
to live as friends.
No, a lifetime's not too long
to live as friends.

Paul Gardner is an outstanding Junior (or at least he stands out).

Juniors Sell Turkeys

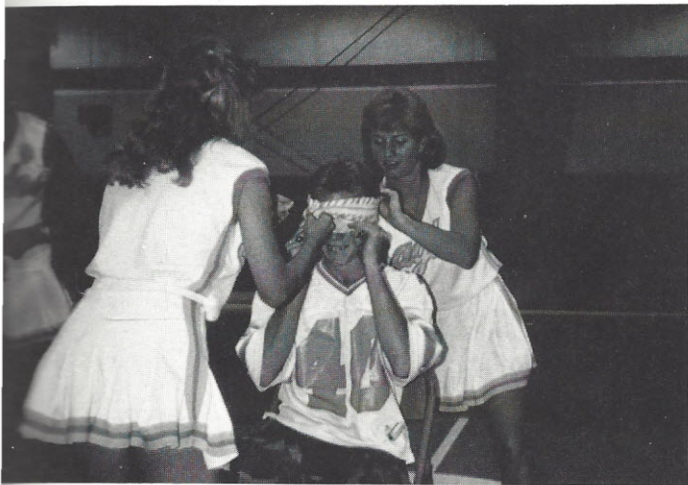

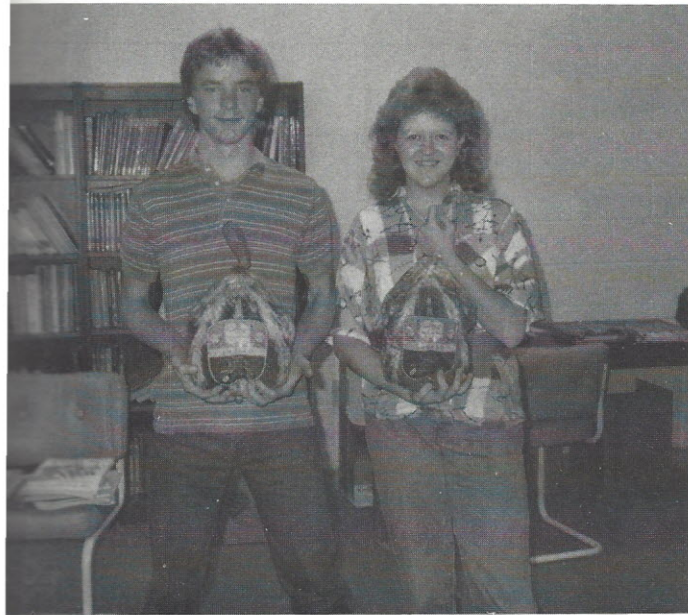

The Juniors found a gold mine in smoked turkeys this year. As a major fund-raising project, the juniors sold gourmet smoked turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas. This was one of many projects designed to raise money for the prom which was held in April. Other successful endeavors included an alumni basketball game, garage sales, raffles, and bake sales.

Raising money for the prom was only the beginning of putting on an impressive dance to honor the seniors. Planning the prom began in early fall when a group of fourteen class members went to Charlotte to a band showcase to choose a band for the April event. Everyone was impressed by the group, Rare Experience, who involved the audience in their music. The class was also pleased that by having the prom on a Thursday night, they could save one-third of the price of the band.

After the first of the year, planning for the prom itself began in earnest. Committees were set up for choosing the theme, decorations, and refreshments. Everyone participated in some way and learned the value of teamwork and effort. When prom night finally came, thirty-six juniors felt pleased and proud of a job well done.

Despite an abundance of turkey jokes, Rhett Melton and Leigh Richardson laughed all the way to the bank after the very successful sale by the juniors.

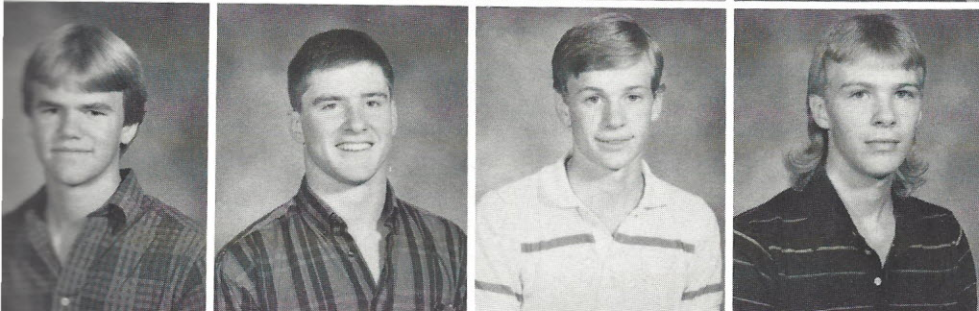

Being a good sport, David Goudelock wonders what cheerleaders Teri Barefield and Gina Robinson are planning this time.

Sophomores Find Time For Fun

The sophomores look upon schoolwork as an unnecessary evil that must be fit into their daily schedules. Of the class of thirty-two, the majority of them are involved in athletics, school organizations, or part-time jobs. This makes study time extremely limited; yet, somehow, it still gets done. Cramming (or pretending to cram) for tests is common during classes or at break. As a rule, the sophomores cannot have more than one test a day (this is called test-a-phobia). When more than one is assigned, fear and panic strike, but normally the tenth graders come out on top.

The sophomores are as serious about playing as they are about avoiding schoolwork. They are well known for doing imitations of teachers and other famous people. Although all try doing imitations, Freddie Glenn is "Well . . ." the master.

When the weekend comes, the sophomores are eager to get together. Whether it's getting together to watch TV at someone's house or going to Columbia, these students always have fun. Heaven forbid that there should be homework on weekends.

Literally working day and night, Aimee Price learned that yearbook layout and design was not just drawing lines. She attended Josten's Yearbook Workshop at Converse College in June.

Freshman Carla Lewis Elected Council Sec.

Freshman Carla Lewis was elected secretary of the Student Assembly for the 1986-87 school year. This petite young lady was undaunted by the odds of running for this office against two upperclassmen. She tackled the campaign with spunk and determination and strong support from her own class. She worked hard to convince fellow students of her qualifications and interest in improving Richard Winn by using positive campaign posters and a sincere speech to the student body.

It took a run-off to put Carla over the top; but after being named secretary, this freshman undertook her job with maturity and style.

Sub-Freshmen Participate In Many Activities

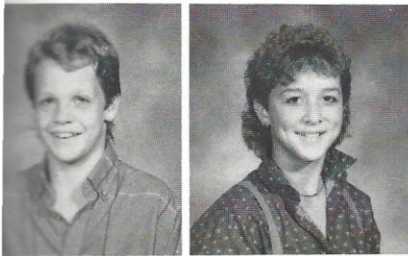

The Eighth Class at Richard Winn is really unique. They have shown themselves to be enthusiastic participants and tough competitors in every aspect of school life.

Last year they were the class to beat at pep rallies. They won the spirit stick at every pep rally except one, and they tied that time. They also won first and second place in the spirit poster contest. They year they had the longest spirit chain with over 800 links. The eighth grade also won the door decorating contest at Christmas.

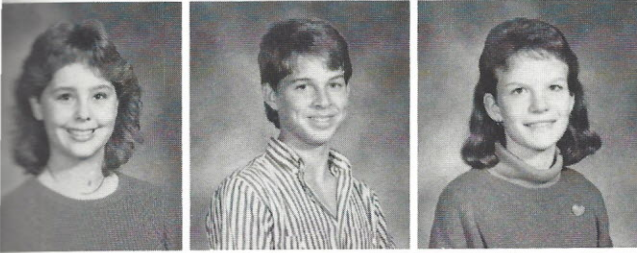

Academically, this class also excels. There are eleven eighth graders in the Junior Beta Club. Fourteen class members make honor and merit rolls with regularity.

Participation is also a passion of this lively group. In cheerleading and JV football this year were eleven Sub-freshmen. During basketball season, there were twenty participants. Seventeen were into Spring sports.

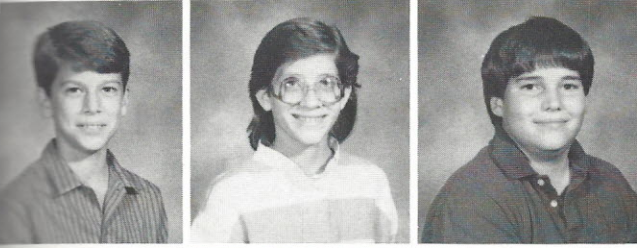

With this type of interest and enthusiasm, this group will continue to be an asset to Richard Winn.

Mrs. Weed, the seventh grade social studies teacher, took her class on a two-day tour of our nation's capital. Despite loss of sleep, the vivacious youngsters packed a lot of sight-seeing into a short time. They visited the capitol where they were met by Rep. John Spratt, the Smithsonian, the FBI, Ford Theater, and many other sites.

The two most memorable events on the tour were Arlington and the Viet Nam Memorial. At Arlington, the seventh graders took part in a wreath-laying ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. At the Viet Nam Memorial they made rubbings of the names of friends or family members who had been killed in Viet Nam.

The trip proved to be very educational especially for the chaperones who learned to play "Truth or Dare."

Professionals Provide Essential Services

Keeping accurate business records and treating people with respect and tact are characteristics of Bookkeeper Margaret McNeely.

Librarian Margaret DuBard finds the most enjoyable part of her job in working directly with students.

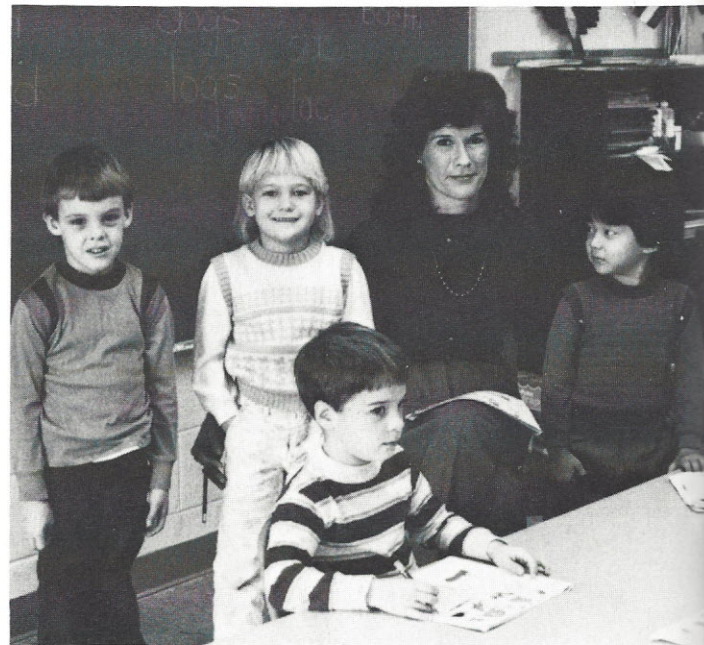

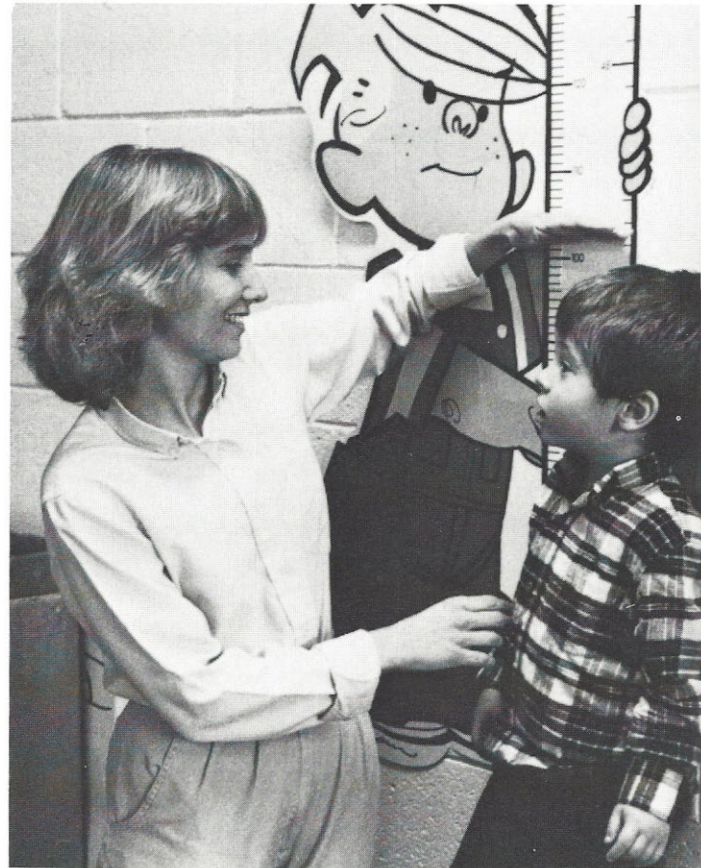

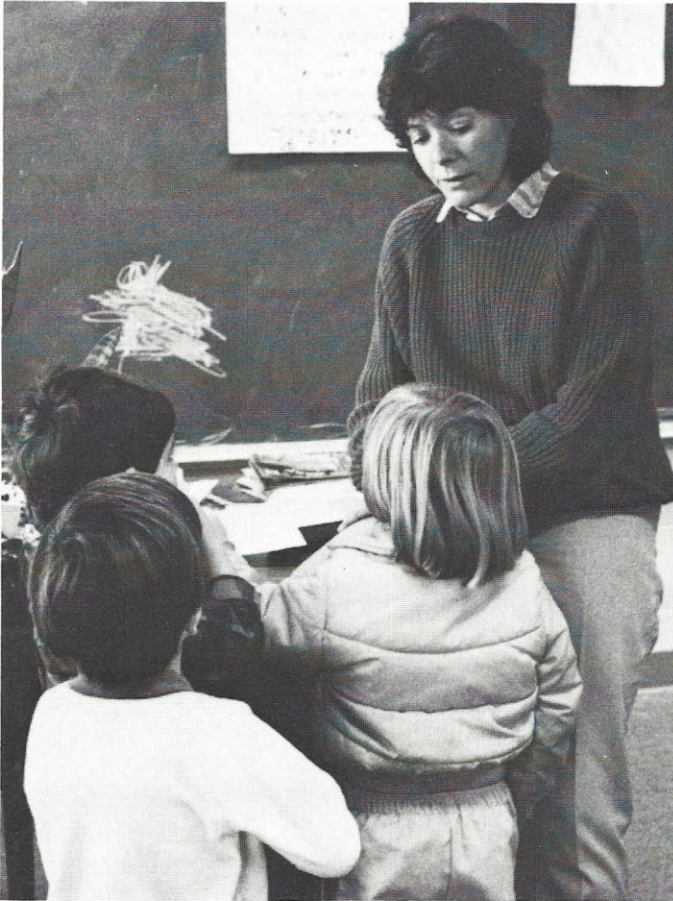

School Secretary and typing teacher Bobbie Stevenson is RWA's #1 booster.

Teachers Use Structure And Flexibility

"Missy Nancy" Owen measures up as a Four-Year-Old Kindergarten teacher.

A ham by nature, "Miss Jane" Hawkins keeps the interest of lively Four-Year-Olds.

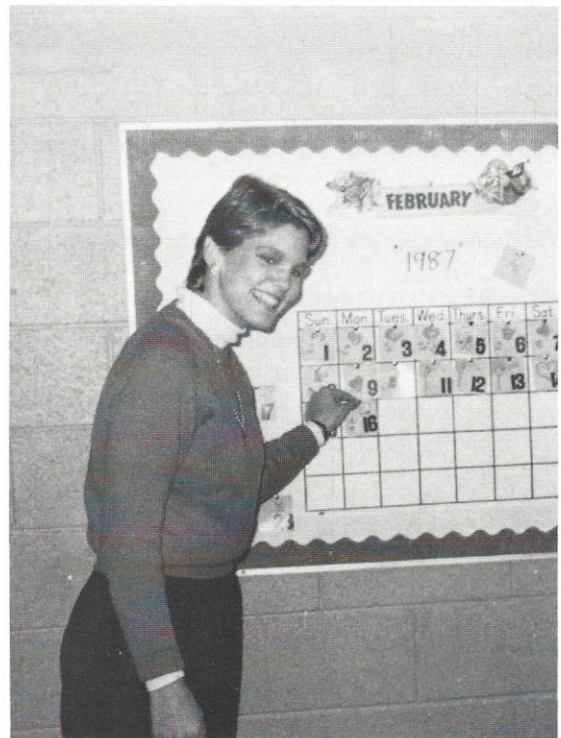

Martha Martin's unique abilities helps Five-Year-Olds adjust to school life.

Pam Rambo uses her understanding of children to good advantage with Five-Year Olds.

Dedicated Teachers Are Assets To RWA

Mary Jane Wright uses innovative methods with second grade.

A student's self-image is important to first grade teacher, Mrs. Betty Harden.

s. Beckie Wooten encourages her second graders to show concern for others.

Enthusiastic Amy Underhill teaches first graders the importance of good order in class.

Energetic Teachers Inspire Students

Laura Jackson introduces her students to a new culture in French classes.

Dennie Hamilton sparks the imagination and interest of her third grade class.

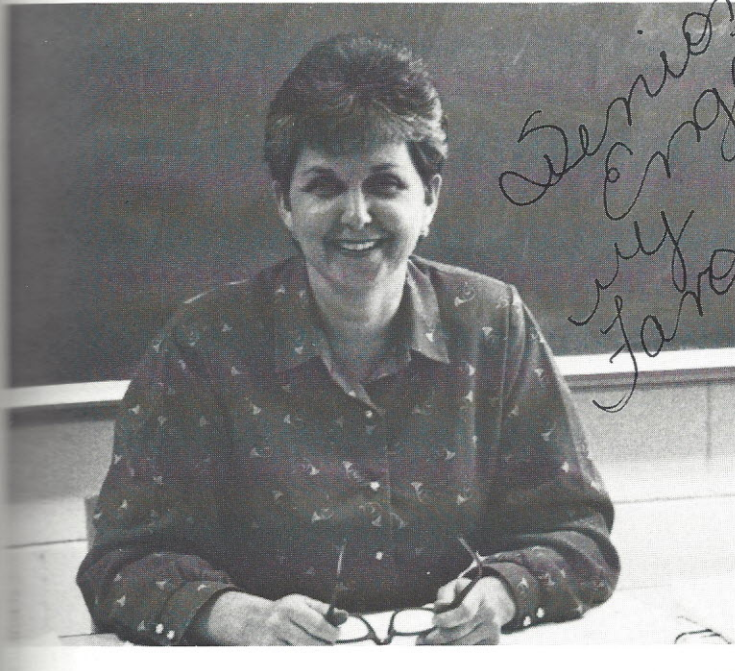

Helen Rexrode guides her fourth grade students with a firm, yet loving hand.

A very creative teacher, Martha Ladd uses her artistic talent to stimulate her fifth grade student's thinking.

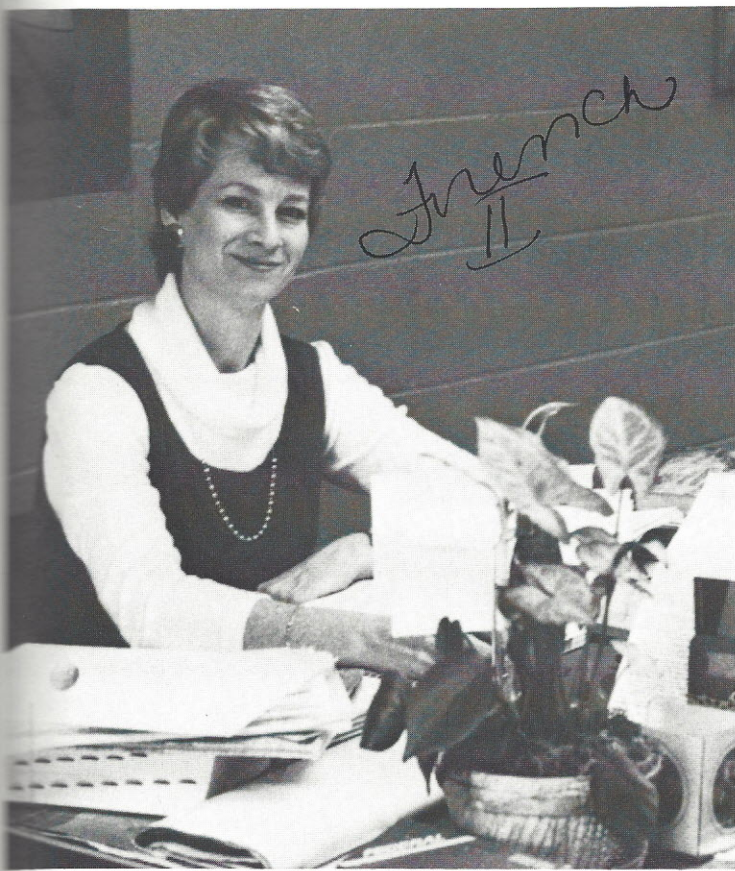

Teachers Emphasize Verbal Skills

*Senior English
my favorite*

Selwyn Turner skillfully balances just the right amount of reading, grammar, and composition in her English classes.

Lea Ward finds that using SRA Reading Labs helps to boost reading skills of her students.

French II

Vicki Robinson incorporates educational trips into her French courses.

Becky Pope encourages her Sophomores to read, read, read.

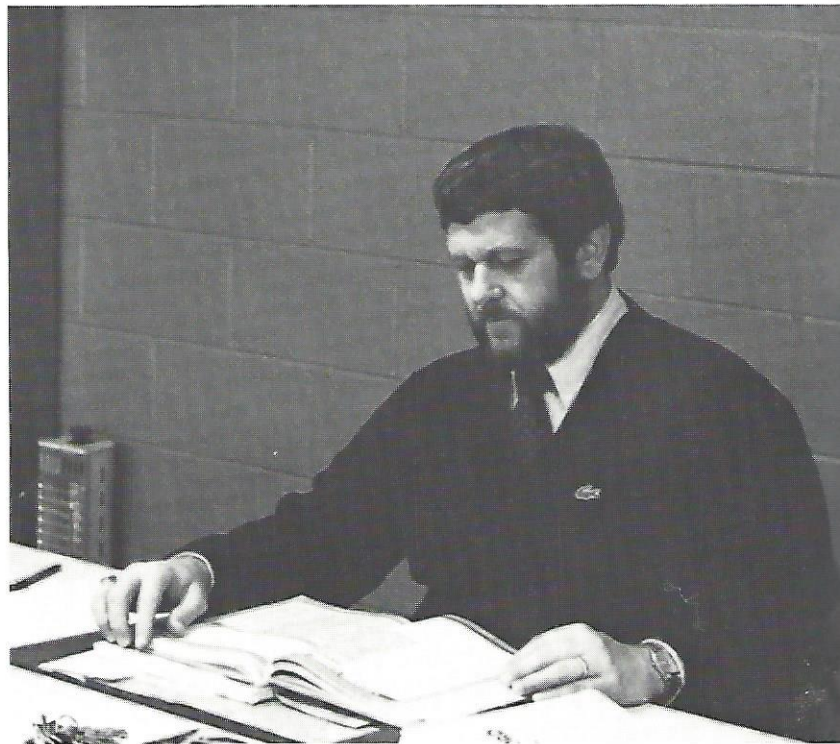

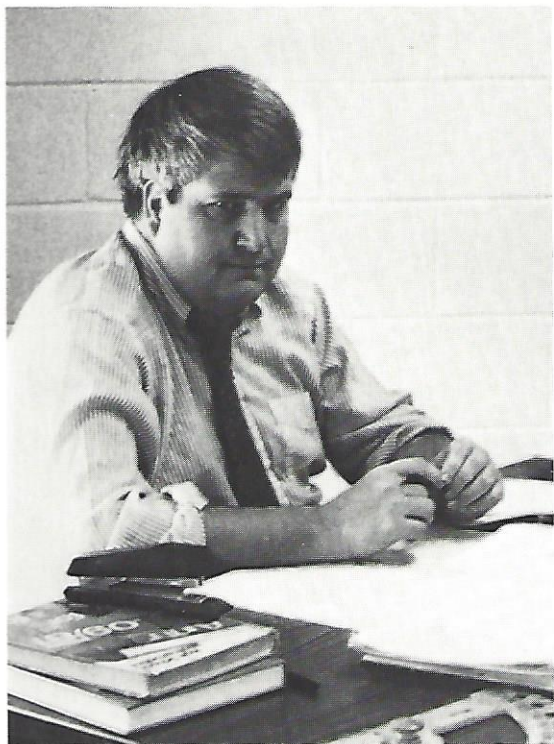

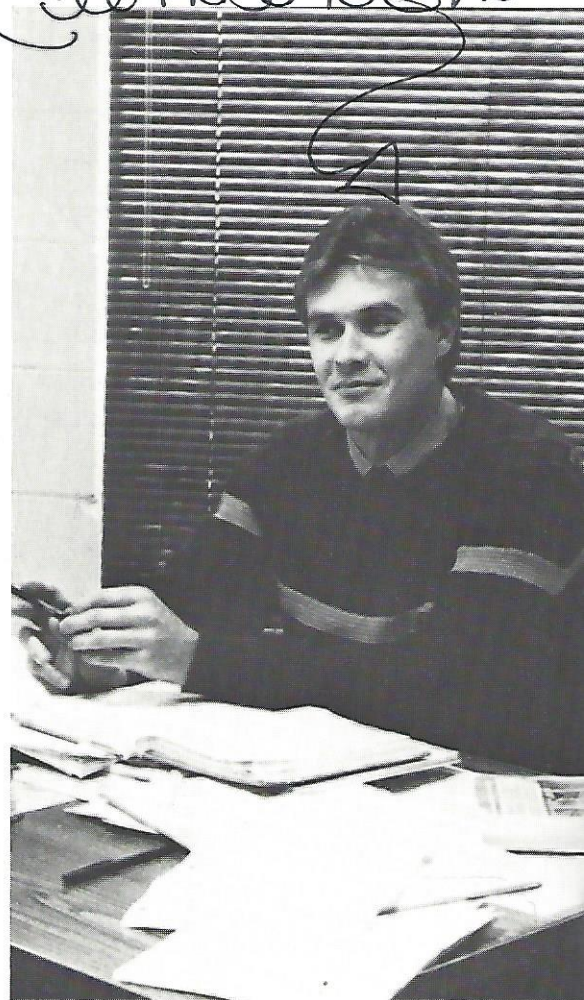

Math Teachers Stay On Their Toes

Common Snacks

A new addition to RWA's faculty, Randy Stogner is invaluable as a math teacher and coach.

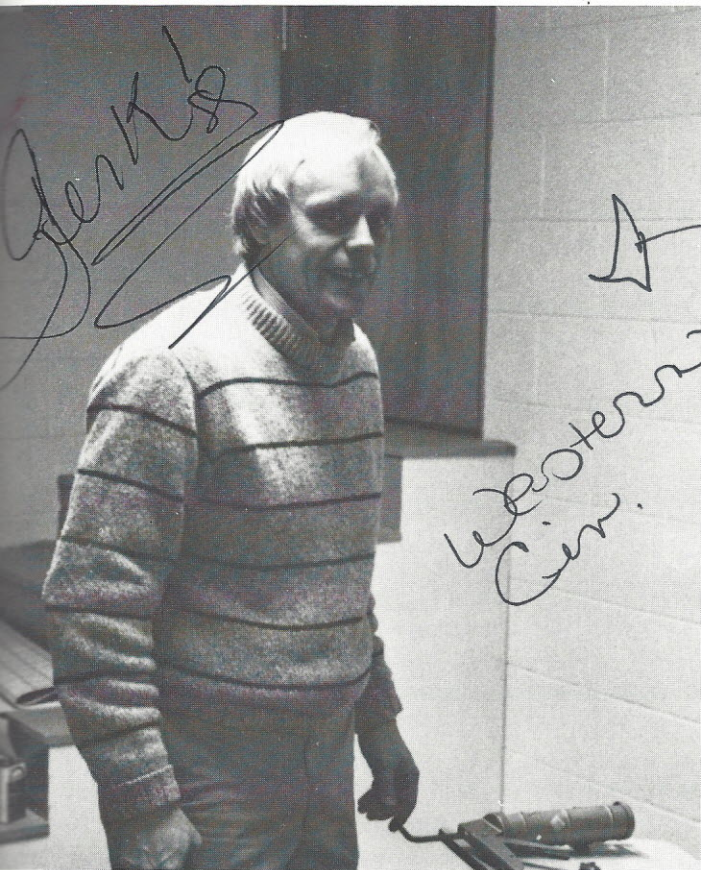

Teaching math, science, and computer science is demanding, but John McSwain still finds time to take students on hiking and skiing trips.

Teaching Middle School math to energetic adolescents requires the patience of a Bobby McLellan.

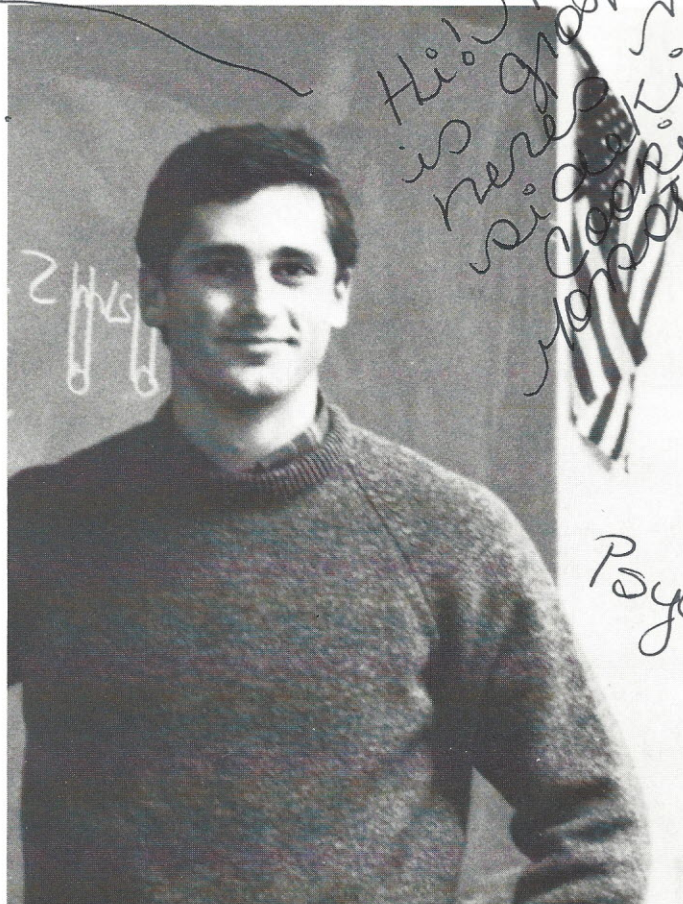

David Porter uses his versatility to teach business math, economics, and driver's education.

Social Studies Relates Past To Present

Mike Robinson finds that being a jack-of-all trades is helpful to him in his job as Assistant Headmaster, social studies teacher, and coach.

Science teacher Robbie Barth developed a very interesting course in Psychology for Juniors this year.

Teaching World History, S.C. History, English III, and Writing/Speech allows Carolyn Murray to delve into all her interests.

Although physical education is her first love, Debra Russell also teaches science and biology.

RWA Wouldn't Function Without These Special People

Love!

It would be hard to imagine RWA without Ellen Nicholson. She teaches music to all grade levels and entertains the community with her frequent programs.

Minnie Johnson and Leonie Davis keep our school looking like new with their hard work.

Reecie Barefield prepares a variety of fast foods for students' lunches which requires much of her time and effort.

Student Council Plays Active Role At RWA

The new Student Council got off to a good start this year. Many of the candidates promised improvements in every aspect of Richard Winn life. So far, many of these promised improvements have already taken shape. The council has sponsored "Pride Week," a luncheon for the faculty, a poster contest, a balloon and carnation sale for Valentines, and co-sponsored a food drive for the needy. All of these events were very successful.

Several officers from the council went to a high school leadership forum in Columbia to represent Richard Winn. Members of the council along with members of the Beta Club went to Myrtle Beach in March to attend a SCISA meeting. These are just a few ways that the Student Council is helping to improve Richard Winn.

Betas Are Active

Both the Senior and Junior Beta Clubs were active in helping their community and school this year.

During the first semester, members were assigned teachers to help. During the holidays, the Beta Clubs sponsored a Thanksgiving party for the first and second graders. It also helped the Student Council sponsor a drive to get canned food for the needy. The Beta Club also has, throughout the year, rewarded those lower school students who excel in studies but go virtually unnoticed.

For the first time, the Beta Club sponsored an Academic Banquet for highest scoring students in each class.

In February a Beta Club Induction was held to recognize all new members joining the Senior and Junior Beta Clubs. After the Induction all Honor Roll, Merit Roll, and Beta Club Members were invited to the cafeteria for refreshments.

Music Program Is Again Outstanding

The music program had a very successful year and were involved in performances in the community and state. The High School Chorus started the season at Christmas with a performance for the Pine Tree Players in cooperation with the Fairfield Central Chorus. Some High School Chorus members sang at the Fairfield Nursing Home in Longtown.

All of the choruses and lower school students presented a traditional Christmas program in the RWA gym. The program was a climax by the choruses singing "Light Up the Tree" using tiny flashlights in the darkened gym.

In February the Middle School Chorus hosted a SCISA Music Clinic organized by Mrs. Ellen Nicholson. Other schools participating were from Newberry, Wilson Hall, and Patrick Henry.

The annual concert tour by the High School Chorus took them to Charleston and Myrtle Beach.

French Club's On The Move

This year the French Club became larger and more active. During mini-course week many attended a French restaurant, Pierre's in Columbia, enjoying many fine French foods. In the spring, a group of about 38 students, chaperoned by Mrs. Ellen Nicholson and the club sponsor, Mrs. Vickie Robinson, toured Montreal and Quebec. Some of the sights included the Olympic Village, Old Montreal, the Underground City, Notre-Dame Church, and the Latin Quarter. Also in the spring, the club held a French Day at school displaying French customs and cuisines.

The Cheerleaders were very successful in arousing school spirit this year. During football season the cheerleaders held a pep rally for every home game. they entertained the fans with skits, a banana eating contest, and awarded the most spirited fan with the privilege of carrying the frog around for a week. The basketball cheerleaders supported the teams by cheering at all the games during the season.

Eagles Reach State Playoffs

The 1986 Richard Winn football team advanced to the Division 3 State Playoffs despite a disappointing 2-8 regular season record. In their first play-off game, they met the Cavaliers of Robert E. Lee, who had an identical record. The Eagles posted a dramatic come-from-behind victory with less than three minutes left on the clock. Rion Burley, who missed part of the season with a leg injury, kicked the game-winning field goal, and the defense held on to preserve the victory, 10-9.

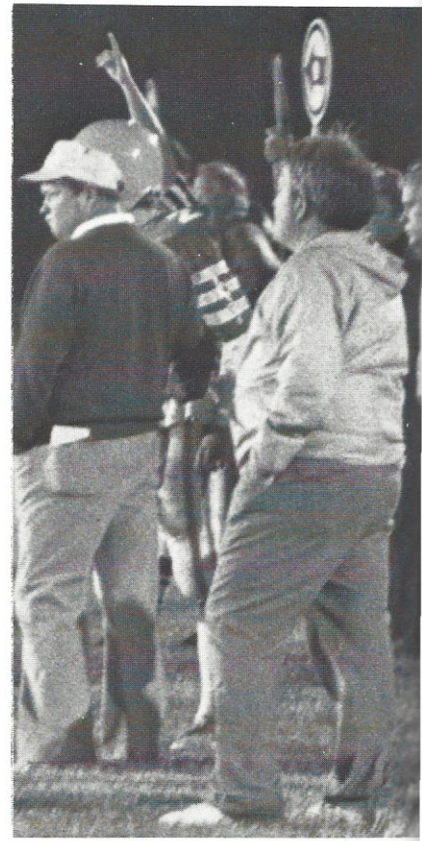

The Eagles then advanced to the semi-finals against the Dorchester Raiders on the Eagles' home field. Rod Taylor and Brad Brantley each scored a touchdown and Rion Burley kicked the PAT's. Strong defense played a key role in the win.

The state championship game was played in Manning against conference opponent Laurence Manning Swampcats.

The Eagles got off to a good start in the game by scoring first with a one-yard plunge by Quarterback Paul Patrick. However, LMA's experience and quickness proved too much for the Eagles, and the Swampcats took control of the game. The Eagles ended their season with a 4-9 record as they brought home the Division 3 State runner-up trophy.

Seniors Rod Taylor, Crawford Hughes, Jonathan Rambo, Brad Sanders, Manager Lee Dixon, and Trainer Bob Barnett contributed greatly to this year's team and will be hard to replace next year.

Four football team members received individual honors at the end of the season. Todd Childers was named All-State and All-Conference. Also receiving All-Conference recognition were Rod Taylor, Crawford Hughes, and David Goudelock. The team was coached by Mike Robinson, Bobby McLellan, and Ernie Hughes.

JV's Have Break-Even Season

The Junior Varsity football team finished the season with a 2-2 record but felt confident that they could have won two games that were cancelled. They suffered losses to Calhoun and Robert E. Lee because they were unable to overcome the size and strength of the older team.

In the game against Long Cane the Eagles completely slaughtered their opponent 56-0. In this game our starting offense and defense played less than half. The younger players got valuable playing time and scored four more touchdowns.

RWA also dominated Wardlaw in the last game of the season. Bo Williams was a stand-out in this game as he broke away time and again for long gains.

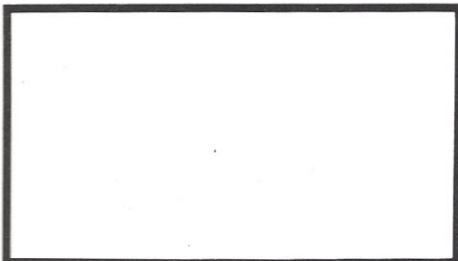

Many of the JV players will return to this team next year, so the future looks bright for another successful year.

Varsity Boys Rebuild Strong Team

The 1986-87 varsity boys basketball team surprised a few people this year. Before the season began, the outlook was rather pessimistic. Having graduated eight members of last year's state championship team, this year's team was faced with a major rebuilding year. But with a great deal of desire and hustle, the Eagles were able to pull off a few upsets and hold their own against some very tough teams.

The team was lead by All-Conference point guard Crawford Hughes and got strong inside play from Rion Burley. Strong substitutes, Dean Branham, Freddie Glenn, and Bo Williams got valuable playing experience which will be beneficial to next year's team.

Will Black rises above his opponent to win the jump ball.

Seniors Weed, Castles, And Phillips Lead Varsity Girls

The season of the girls' varsity team began enthusiastically with a series of wins. As it progressed and the competition increased, the team experienced some well-fought victories and disappointing defeats.

The team was led by the three seniors: Rana Weed, Page Castles, and Hannah Phillips. The starting guards, Retta Melton and Gina Robinson, were valuable to the team also.

The team this year was small with only ten members. These players have gained valuable experience as they will be the backbone of the team next year.

The team had loyal fans throughout the year who supported the Eagles at all of their games.

JV Boys Have Class

Head Coach Randy Stogner and his assistant Robbie Barth faced a real challenge at the first of the JV Basketball season. They had over 20 enthusiastic young men try out for the team which had to be cut to 13. Of these 13 only three had ever played basketball on a team, and these three had very little playing experience.

The patience and hard work of the coaches and the tremendous effort and desire of the team paid off, however; it was evident to the spectators that the team improved every game. Even when they were beaten by older more experienced teams, the Eagles never gave up. They continued to hustle and play with intensity. Coach Stogner commented that he had never worked with a team with more heart.

The future looks bright for these young athletes. This year of experience will have prepared them for a very competitive season next year.

Matthew Rambo, the team's leading scorer, shoots over Calhoun's center.

The Eagles learn by setting up and running the offense with patience, two points are not hard to come by.

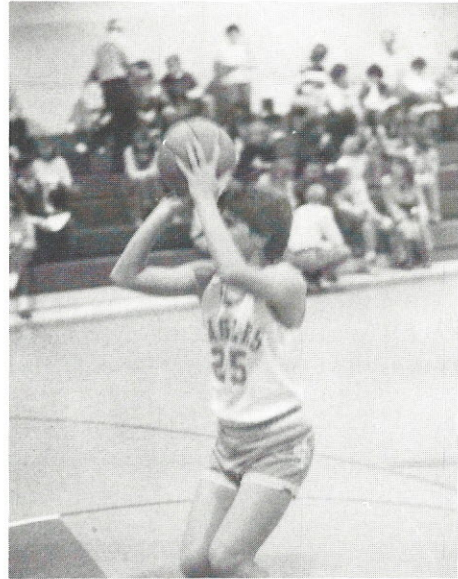

Rion Fetner scores from the free-throw line.

Jason Wade releases a short jumper good for two points.

Coach Stogner shows patience and determination in working with his team.

Byron Beckham, Christopher Bass, and Cal Caldwell listen to the game plan for the second half.

Brian Clyburn shoots an outside shot from his favorite spot.

J.V. Girls Have Great Year

The junior varsity girls had a great season this year. They finished the regular season as conference champs with a record of 13-2. The offense was lead by Millie Mincey in the backcourt, with Susan Mattox, Janet Spencer, Anne Marie Burley, and Angel Kingsmore balancing the attack. Strong substitutes, Beth Douglass and Keleigh Hughes contributed greatly on both defense and offense.

The team captured both the regular season and tournament championships.

Angel Kingsmore, the team's only left-handed shooter, puts it through the hoop.

Memories To Hold On To . . .

... And To Relive

The Alumni Basketball games gave RWA graduates a chance to remember their high school days as they had an enjoyable reunion with their former teammates.

The Junior class sponsored games were organized by former coach Raymond Gardner, Billy and Martha Ladd. The even-year graduates played the odd-year graduates in these close contests.

i luv eric!

Looking Into The Future

After graduating from DeVry, Ricahrd Branham has turned his house into a movie theater where the "gang" can always be found eating Johnny food and doing ear tricks.

After graduating from college with a degree as a rocket scientist, Bill Barnett now works at the world famous Chipendale's as a janitor.

Tonya Babb now has four houses in different parts of the world. This is handy because she also has a husband in each house. Way to go, Tonya!

After experimenting for several years in the lab, Frances Keels finally found a way to reduce her height to 5'1", only to get a job at a Breyers' coffee ice cream plant and gain 70 pounds.

Jonathan Rambo, after moving back to South America, is now the head Fire Chief of the Pygmee tribe.

Shannon Case who has divorced Ken now dances on "Solid Gold" to support her family.

Page "Bowie" Castles graduated with her Ph.D. in Psychology. She now counsels bow-legged childred on coping with cruel "bow-legged" jokes from their peers.

After attending Gina's Sunday School where they give out candy, Eddie Maddox has become extremely religious and has decided to start his own religion: Eddieism.

After changing his name to E. Francis and his image to Mr. Rogers, E. Francis Cathcart goes to the College of Charleston, runs The Blue Oyster Bar, and moonlights with Peter Odinis.

Sandi Wright, after being trampled by rioters at a Depeche Mode concert, is now the "Rolling" leader of the Wheelchair Groupies.

*I luv Eric!

After getting "Cocky," Crawford Hughes was kicked out of Clemson and is now an erotic dancer at E. Francis' Blue Oyster Bar.

Kim Brown now owns her very own motorized wheel-chair. After running over and killing 13 people, she has been sentenced to CCI and a death sentence is being considered.

After a short college life, Will Black is now a preacher and can be seen at night driving the Road Runner and throwing Bibles at pedestrians and yelling "Repent!!"

Brad Sanders joined the Winnsboro police force and now is the head of the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Center.

U.S. Representative Patrick McGuire is adored by the youth for his proposal of the Thursday through Tuesday weekend.

Perry Mattox, the world famous comedian, can be heard yelling "chi chi" as the punch line for his late night show.

After going AWOL, Bob Barnett is now the head trainer of the Ballet Club Benedict College.

At the Medical University Hospital, where she is now employed, Hannah Phillips was honored as the Best Dressed "Prune", with the prettiest hair.

Senior Class Prophecy

As a college graduation present, Gina Kelly's parents gave her ownership of the Roadrunner Grill and Arcade (Beep! Beep!) where she may now be found behind the counter flopping hamburgers.

If you tune your radio into Winnsboro's new News Station, you will hear Lee Cunningham, who is the owner of WLEE, reporting gossip in the 'boro.

After being imprisoned for stealing a patent to wear bracelets from Annie, "Crazy" Lee Dixon now makes them for prisoners to use as nooses when they wish to commit suicide.

After Cynthia Mazat was fired from her job as head cheerleader for the Washington Redskins, she got her old job back with Burger King being the Top Whopper Flopper in Winnsboro, S.C.

Rana Weed, after graduating from the College of Charleston with her Ph.D. in Spelling and Pronunciation, now tutors her body-building sweetheart Arnold Schwarzenager on speaking correctly and effectively in public.

Russ White has graduated from Winthrop and moved back to Chester where he got his old job back with Doc Anderson. Being attacked by a rabid gerbil, he goes mad, kills Doc, and takes over the practice.

Rod "Bonehead" Taylor has opened his own factory of "Taylor's Creme Horns!"

After graduating from Salem College, Annie McLeod, along with Mr. McSwain, has established an organic commune to give Hippies a home and to promote peace!

Brad Moore now designs sports cars for Yugo, but they still won't let him drive them. He also serves as a part time bowling ball.

Robin Clinton has taken over Dr. Ruth's talk show where she answers questions that even Dr. Ruth finds controversial and baffling.

Shannon Wade has now made her first million with Matel. They now have a doll that constantly mimicks Shannon's nagging whine.

The Gold Standard Will Recognize Students Who Excel

Shannon Wade, Editor-in-Chief, puts finishing touches on The Student Life Section.

The idea of The Gold Standard came about as yearbook staff members tried to anticipate months in advance what the 1986-87 school year would be like. We thought about the exciting changes that were coming about in our area — gold mining in Ridgeway and the Mack Truck plant in Winnsboro. We kept coming back to the idea of “gold” as we thought of Mack’s symbol of quality, the gold bulldog. Then we began to relate this to our school color, gold. Surely this was our symbol of quality, too.

As our ideas took shape, we planned to emphasize RWA’s high standards in the '87 Aerie, but we also wanted to contribute something to the school other than a yearbook. We wanted to have a symbol that would be a constant reminder to our students that we expect them to set high standards for themselves.

Every student at Richard Winn has the potential of having the Gold Standard displayed for him in recognition of his achievement. We trust that it will mean to you what was intended by the Aerie staff.

Shannon Wade
Editor-in-Chief

Jan Murray, Junior Editor, got valuable experience this year which will help prepare her for the Editor-in-Chief position next year.

Sophomores Aimee Price and Kay Gustafson were Organizations and Sports Editors of the '87 Aerie. Elliott Nicholson, Faculty Editor, is absent from picture.
