

Shooting for the Top

While their win-lose record was not impressive, the varsity boys did have a lot of success through determination and character. The Eagles fielded a very young team this year; many times starting three sophomores. Their task was compounded by not having many players on the team and also having several injuries, particularly to Bo Williams, the team's only senior. Bo was able to bounce back and provide excellent leadership; he will be sorely missed. Due to the opposition, superior talent, and our own injuries, the fighting Eagles were soundly beaten at times, but always showed great courage and determination by bouncing back with some big wins of their own, most notably in the conference semi-finals against Catawba where the Eagles finished as Conference runner-up. The Eagles narrowly missed the State Final Four by losing a one point game in the quarter finals to Clarendon Hall.

Bo Williams concentrates on the action under the basket just after passing the ball.

Terol Hegler displays his mouth to hand coordination as he lays the ball up to add two points to the Eagles score.

Rion Fetner and Jack Livings fight for position underneath the basket as Terol Hegler takes a shot from the outside.