

Palmer Nicholson shakes his opponents hand after a challenging match in which he was the victor.

Hard Work Will Pay

The boy's tennis team seems to improve each year. The young team can count on a very promising future because this year taught the boys a lot about close matches. Although they won only one match, many went down to the wire. Their dedication and determination not only helped to keep the team's spirits up, but also helped to kindle the desire in every player to keep trying. Coach Thompson feels that they gained much experience and improved daily. The younger players who contributed to this year's team prove to make the future of RWA a very promising one.

by Elliott Nicholson

As he prepares to serve, Turner Pope plans out what strategy will work best on his opponent.

Ben DuBard, the only senior on this year's team, awaits his opponents serve.

