

Keeping Busy Is Easy

There seems to be no problem at all when it comes to students finding things to do. From athletics to academics there is always a way for students to occupy their time. The day does not end at 2:25, as a matter of fact for most it's just beginning. No one can wait until the end of the school day because that means time to do the things that can't be done in the classroom. Afternoon practices, games, homework, and for some, afternoon jobs keep the students always on the move. by Beth Douglass
