

Take Time Out For Lunch

Everyone loves lunch, although this year lunch did not necessarily mean food. Mainly, lunch was a time to talk and just get away from the books. Students could be found in the gym, outside, or in the halls laughing and having fun. Usually the bell rang too early for most, especially for the seniors. A look out the window could find a senior hurrying to his late class while stuffing the remainder of his lunch in his mouth. Although the students were pressed for time, they still managed to get in their gossip and their food with enough time to make it to class without being late.

by Beth Douglass

Dawn Cunningham talks to her friends while eating her lunch.

Jacque Geraldo and Ben DuBard enjoy the outdoors while eating pizza for lunch.

Clark Doty takes time from her lunch break to quench her thirst.