

Last, but certainly not least, is the advertisement section. We are proud of our school and its students and want to reflect upon the memorable events of the '93-'94 school year. In a large part, the Aerie is brought to you compliments of the loyal patrons and businesses in our community. They remain the backbone of this book.

The majority of these advertisers readily respond with financial support whenever called upon by the various clubs and organizations at RWA. As you flip through these next twenty-one pages looking at the pictures and reading the copy, think about the important role these advertisers play in helping to produce this book. But, more importantly, go out and patronize their businesses. They've given us their support; now it's our turn to show them that they're WORTH THEIR WEIGHT IN GOLD!
