

THE BELLS OF CHRISTMAS. The Bell Choir concentrates hard on doing it just right. Here we see Mrs. Lou Ann Coleman assisting the girls with their successful performance.

Christmas is a

Feeling

FROSTY. Posing as Frosty the Snowman, William Arnette entertains the audience as he plays the part to perfection, delighting both children and adults alike.

DON'T THEY LOOK LIKE ANGELS? During this year's annual Christmas Pageant, the Lower School children behave like angels, much to the relief of their parents and teachers.

HOW MANY TURTLE DOVES? At left, sixth graders Lacey Feaster and Allyson Hollis make sure that the audience is certain that there are TWO turtle doves.

HEY, IT'S OUR TURN! The teachers are determined to outsing Jason Robinson and Charlie Hodges during their rendition of "The Twelve Days of Christmas".
