

THE BEST CHRISTMAS PAGEANT EVER

THE TOUGHEST JOB OF ALL. Mrs. Vicki Robinson receives congratulations on directing such a delightful play. Although there were a few rough moments in the early going, the final production was a huge success.

CLEAR THE BUILDING! Fireman Joe Renwick rushes in to save panicky shepherds Jeni-Bruce Wilkes, Josh Allen, and Joe Hodges from a fire in the church. By the look on Joe's face, things couldn't be too serious!

ALL IS CALM. The mood is solemn as the Herdmen perform the traditional Christmas pageant, even though the wise men brought a ham instead of gold. The fifth grade, shown here as the angel choir, also lent a hand in the production of the play.

GETTING THE SCOOP! The "old ladies" of the church, Jennifer Parker, Suzanne Kirby, and Frances Brown, engage in some shocking gossip during the play. Despite being laid up with a broken leg, Frances was determined to keep up with the latest.
