

SIGN IT. MEAN IT. KEEP IT.

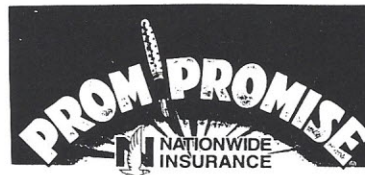

A DAY OF GLORY AND GLOOM. Members of the Junior class perform a wedding skit for the student body. At the wedding reception one of the bridesmaids had too much to drink and crashed into the couple while leaving for their honeymoon.

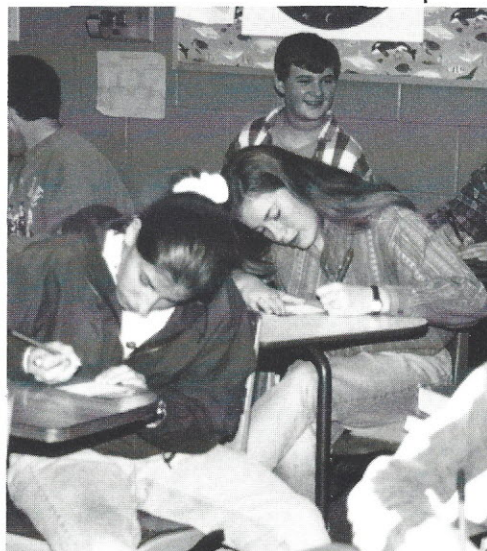

WHAT TIME? GAME TIME ... HUH! The Junior basketball players show their enthusiasm for the Prom Promise as they prepare to play in wheelchairs. The players played SLED agents, one of whom is a former USC basketball star.

DRINKING AND DRIVING DON'T MIX. SLED agent Lt. Kirkland speaks to the high school about how drinking and driving result in death or injury. Many students were deeply touched as he told a moving story of drunk teenagers killing a mother of two, both of whom were in the car.

I signed The Nationwide Insurance Prom Promise.

A PROMISE IS A PROMISE. A few days before the Prom, sophomores Lindsey Bonds and Susan Martin read the Prom Promise carefully before signing it. The sophomores, along with the juniors and seniors all promised not to drink and drive on Prom night.

TOP FORM. Even in a wheelchair, junior Travis Simpson displays top form at the freethrow line. Although the Eagles won, they learned how hard it would be to be in a wheelchair for life.