

FIFTH GRADE

A MONUMENTAL MOMENT. After hiking the historic 2 mile path around Kings Mountain National Park, Mrs. Beth Harwell and several fifth grade students stop for a brief rest and Kodak moment at one of the park's monuments. The students also visited Historic Brattonsville and an Indian village on their day away from the classroom setting.

BIG ON THE PIG. High school science teacher, Mrs. Renee Allen, takes time out of her busy teaching schedule to show Ms. Miller's students the anatomy of a fetal pig. Although many of the students were a bit squeamish at first cut, they watched and listened closely as Mrs. Allen showed and talked about the various parts and organs.
