

SPIRITS SOAR!

KING OF THE "JUNGLE". Senior cheerleader Melissa Young crowns classmate #73 Martin Timm: KING for the day. As tradition went, the cheerleaders sponsored a contest featuring the senior football players vying for the honor of being selected Homecoming King.

STUFFIN' THE EAGLE. Junior classmates Julie Mattox and Kim Jones put on the finishing touches as they stuff pieces of colored tissue in the last few holes. This colorful 3-D eagle was designed by the jr. class's most artistic member, Kim Murphy.

THE WRITE STUFF. Maribeth Coleman and Frances Ladd, juniors, sign their names on their wall banner — another of the week's many activities designed to boost school spirit. Although the seniors won this phase of the competition, all those that participated had fun displaying their unique talents.

PAINT, PAPER, PRIDE. Capping off the week's activities, the j.v. cheerleaders proudly display the pre-game banner as they eagerly wait for the varsity players to rip through it. The Eagle team went on to defeat the Jeff Davis opponents to bring the homecoming week to a perfect end.
