

Camping Adventures

NEW HEIGHTS. Chris Kinard puts heart and soul into his climb on the wall while his group shouted support from below. Chris was one of several students that was courageous enough to attempt the climb.

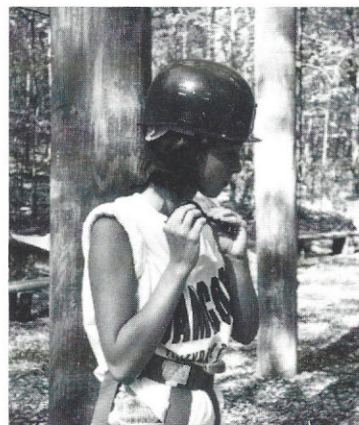

TOGETHER. Group three travels up the trail wearing Lava shoes and practicing teamwork. This was one example of the many games that the eighth graders played in order to teach them how to work together.

GIMME CHOCOLATE! In a race to get the chocolate in a game called "Chocolate Mayhem" Cory Shirley strips Wylie Clarkson of his chocolate eaters costume. Everyone enjoyed competing in this fast-paced event.

TRUST IN ME ... Mr. Matthew Fletcher and Wylie Clarkson work their way along the "Wild and Noosy" while the rest of Group One serves as spotters. This game was fun and exciting while teaching the students how to trust.

STRAPPING IT DOWN. Clad in harness and brain bucket, Nicole Collins concentrates hard before her turn to climb the wall. This was one of the various outside activities that the students had a chance to experience.

OOPS! In a Simon Says type game called "Order Up" Mary Startzman misses the mark. Mary was eliminated early from this game because the order was down rather than up.
