

Eagle Golf Tees Off In 2000

GOOD STROKE. Senior Ryan Johnson watches the ball roll toward the cup as he practices before a match. Ryan has enjoyed playing for the Eagles over the past few years.

SOARING FAR. As Joe Brown blasts it up the fairway, he pauses to watch it go straight down the middle. "Uno" Joe has been a loyal golfer, playing seven years for the Eagles.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT. Brooks Quinn takes a practice swing before teeing off on the number one hole. Brooks came through at the end of the season for the Eagles and placed fourth in the region tournament.

STRICTLY CHILLIN'. Before the match with Cambridge, Matt Gilreath loosens up as his tee-off time approaches. Matt took golf very seriously, practicing every chance he got and even participating in off-season tournament competition around the state.

LOOK AT ME. Ward Coleman seems to be amused by Jae Mattox's on course antics before a home tri-match with Ben Lippen and Cardinal Newman. The Eagles always found time for joking and cutting up before play.
