

• FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA? •

Mrs. Lutz's young "farmers" looked dressed and ready to take on the daily chores. Spirit Week was especially fun for the youngsters who enjoyed the various dress-up days.

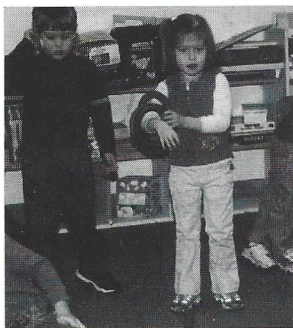

• COLOR MY WORLD •

Mrs. Lutz knows how to make learning fun! These pre-schoolers worked diligently to color and express their individual artistic abilities.

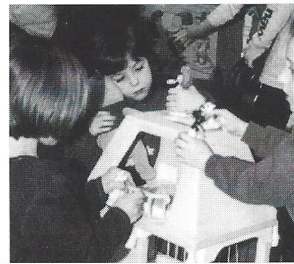

It's Your Move: Focusing on his opponent's next move, John Coleman carefully studies the chess board. After school John and buddy Mac McDonald were often found playing a game of chess in the library.

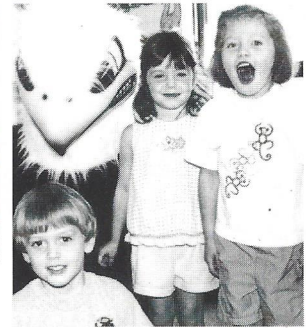

Battle of the Sexes: John S. and Marion Walker play a friendly game of ring toss during play time. Mrs. Lutz's classroom was filled with lots of fun games and hands-on centers.

Cute as Buttons: Although Meg seems a little distracted, Perry Anne smiles big for yet another yearbook snapshot. These two young beauties were never reluctant to have their pictures taken.

Land of Make Believe: Meg, Nancy Blair, and Perry Anne play house during some free time. This non-structured environment allowed the pre-schoolers play time to stretch their imaginations.

Mascot Mania: John S., Nancy Blair, and Marion Walker happily pose with "Richard" the Eagle. Special classroom visitors always brought excitement and smiles.
