

• A ROWDY BUNCH•

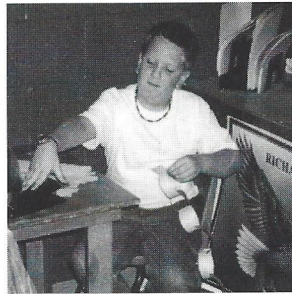

This group of third graders enjoys their hayride at the Country Adventure Pumpkin Patch. Field trips often provided time off from school, and sometimes even a chance for students to pick out pumpkins for their front porches.

You Can't See Me: Despite Carrie's best efforts, Mrs. Ladd could still see her to take her picture on Camo Day. Carrie was just one of many students who enjoyed this fun-filled day.

Mmm...Mmm Good: Nic gets set to sample some good hot vegetable soup. Lunch was a welcomed part of a student's day and a time to refuel the body.

"Grade A" Spirit: Chris takes part in Spirit Week fun by counting his class's spirit links. Spirit links were purchased from the varsity cheerleaders daily and combined with those of other classmates to make a long blue and gold chain.

Three Amigos: Hunter, Zach, and Rebekah enjoy the animals at the Country Adventure Farm. Observing the animals there was just a small part of the fun they experienced on this trip.

Hard at Work: MacKenzie shovels some soil during her time in the class garden. Mr. Mark Talbert of the Clemson Extension office taught these youngsters about planting herbs and vegetables.
