

FRESHMEN

• SNACKIN IN CLASS •

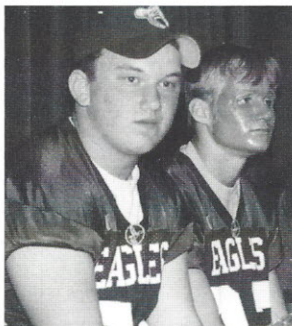

The ninth graders sit down to take a break and eat during Mrs. McDonald's class. They had to cook a dish from a different region of the world for a geography project.

• FRIENDS FOR LIFE •

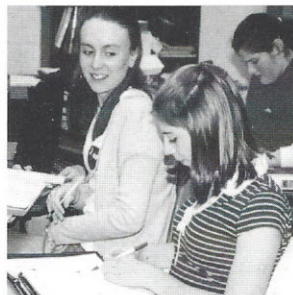

Good friends, Lewis Frazier and Jill Wagers, pose for picture. Like many others in the freshman class, these two have developed a friendship that will last a lifetime.

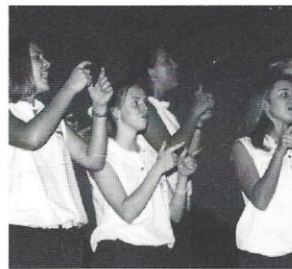

Focused: Will Muller takes some time to sit down and read a little, like a good student should. Richard Winn students have been known to be found hard at work, even when it's not school time.

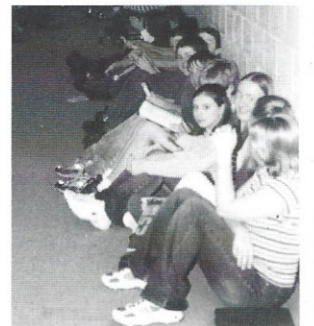

The Price Is Right: Price watches the action at a pep rally. Pep rallies allowed students time to release energy in a positive way.

Caught in The Act: Amber Grant takes a look at Heather Reed's paper during class-- No, wait, they're just talking. Amber was just taking a break from some tough note-taking.

I Say Blue, You Say Gold: Jessica, Sally, and Sarah show off their school spirit at the bonfire. These girls showed their spirit year round as big supporters of Eagle athletics.

This One's For Real: Bad weather allows for a break from class time for the ninth graders. Although the storm quickly passed over, it made many students and teachers uneasy.