"I was reviewing subject pronouns and said the list a little too fast. As they ran together it came out as something else...i.e. 'I, you, he, SHE, IT."

Mrs. Lou Ann Coleman

Mrs. Tweedie Mills

"Once I was going to relate an incident from LONG ago and referred to my "boyfriend" as I told the story. The class began to giggle and say "Ooo, Mrs. Mills has a boyfriend." I wasn't married or even knew "Mr. Mike." Needless to say, it took a little "undoing!" At least I never had any parents tell me that they had heard about my boyfriend."
