

"You find out life's this game of inches, so is [every sport]."

Because in either game -life or [sport]- the margin for error is so small.

I mean, one half a step too late or too early and you don't quite make it.

One half second too slow, too fast and you don't quite catch it.

The inches we need are everywhere around us.

They're in every break of the game, every minute, every second. On this team we fight for that inch.

On this team we tear ourselves and everyone else around us to pieces for that inch.

We claw with our fingernails for that inch.

Because we know when we add up all those inches, that's gonna make the difference between winning and losing!"
