

9th Grade Trip to Camp Greenville

Settled in the breathtaking wilderness, Camp Greenville has been a Richard Winn favorite field trip for many years. This year's ninth grade's trip to Camp Greenville was no different. The students enjoyed each other's company as they developed class unity. They experienced group activities, square dancing, a ropes course, and hikes to stunning waterfalls. When the students got back to Richard Winn, all they talked about was returning to those fun-filled days at Camp Greenville.

I Lift Up Mine Eyes

This eighth grade group spends a solemn moment observing the beauty of "Pretty Place."

The Breakfast Club

These girls enjoy breakfast with each other, ready to take on a new day at Camp Greenville.

1. These friends take a moment to "chill out" next to the beautiful Rainbow Falls.
2. Rachel Matthews puts forth great effort in order to complete the ropes course.
3. These ninth grade boys joke around at the Camp Greenville square dance.
4. Kris Cameron and Thomas Wilkes make their way across the high ropes course.
5. Team building was an important purpose for this year's trip.
