

about change. With a new head of school, assembly, and a new morning mantra, Through it all, the students discovered remained, some were changed; but all learned to live by these simple words -

big!

