

7TH GRADE TRIP

Discovering D.C.

Neither Rain, nor Sleet...

Though the weather is less than perfect, it doesn't hinder their sightseeing plans. This group made the most of their time in Washington, visiting many of our capital's historic sites.

1. Corey, Logan, Taylor, and Reid show their "eagle" pride by posing with a stone statue of our national bird, also the RWA mascot.
2. The whole gang is all together atop a larger-than-life Einstein statue.
3. Several of the girls share a laugh along their walking tour.
4. Reid, Corey, and Taylor don't let the cold weather get them down as they pose for a group picture.
5. A group huddles against the South Carolina stone of the World War II Memorial.

Remembering the Fallen

Students point to a specific name on the Vietnam Memorial. Visiting this memorial was a very solemn experience for most of them.
