

Spring '09

Spring Break gives RWA students a preview to their upcoming summer vacation. Whether it's going to the beach or just hanging out at home, the students are just looking for some time away from school work. Seventh grader Brian Steed, for example, took a trip to Hawaii where he stayed for six days. When asked about the trip, he says, "We visited the volcanoes on the big island and went to a luau." Many students decided to head to the Carolina coast. Rebekah Timms says, "I got to do some much needed shopping while there!" Some students decided to stick close to home. Fifth grader Marion Walker Coleman had a sleepover during the break where she got to spend some time with her friends. Juniors Kelsey Ray, Kayla Branham, Brock

Sherrod, and Grace Wilkins reunited at Enzo's for some quality time and good food. Though most students relaxed, many spent extra hours on the baseball field practicing. Senior Myles Rowe says, "Over spring break, we had a four-hour practice and we didn't get to eat lunch. It was tough, but we still had fun since we were on the diamond."

1.

3.

4.

5.

6.

1. Brock Sherrod goes for a strike while out bowling.
2. Katie and Vicky pose for the camera while at the beach.
3. Ivy tries to cool off at the park.
4. The Student Government gets together after the SCISA Beach Convention.
5. Logan Bost gives a thumbs up while riding on his four wheeler.
6. B. Walters climbs the ladder while working on a house.