

The Sky Is The Limit

After two years as State Champions, the golf team fell short of the title this season. The team lost their best player from last season, and they struggled to fill the empty spot. Senior Caleb Chapman said, "This year, we didn't have any heart until the last day of State and then it was too late." Some players recognized a lack of consistency as a source of the team's problems. As junior Bryson Pope said, "We were not as consistent as last golf season, and it showed when we came up second in the State." While this team may not have lived up to their previous record, several promising young players such as Taylor Ingle show great potential and helped carry the team along. With time and practice, the sky is the limit for this young team in the coming seasons.
