

dogfish shark. To Mrs. McDonald- paint for the walls. To Coach Copeland- oh nooooo and markers. To Mrs. Davis- love and support. To Anna Grey and Blake- the best cheer year for 09 and a new big sister. To the Class of 2010- the ability to go to lunch and good luck.

I Lauren Pendergrass, do bequeath to Grace- a key to my dorm and permanent air mattress, a cheek pinch, my love for volleyball, a new pitcher, tiger hugs and b. bumps. To Sarah P. - a key to my dorm, an air mattress to share with Grace, girls nights and all our boys. To Brittany- TOUCH MY BODY!, floor burns and a good digger, an awesome, not self-centered bf, and someone to fight with. To Mary G. - organic peanut butter, sweet paste, riders, a running partner and my tan. To Becca- the ability to deal with drama and someone to help you and Kristen figure out where to eat. To Kristen- some drapes, someone to borrow your dirty shox and a superhero name. To Drew- someone to hug you everyday and tell you they love you. To Alex- someone to borrow your Nikes, some strategically placed quarters, a digger to hit at and the ability to not hit an A.C. while pitching. To Kat M.- half a chicken quesadilla. To Perry Anne R.- a fun babysitter, some high school gossip, the ability to do a big splash and all my love. To Marion Walker- a ride, some goggles and a hug. To Ally R.- an awesome babysitter, someone to do Ally bat with, some chicken corn chowder and all my love. To Haleigh- a leather cat suit and the ability to make an A on Ms. Brown's papers. To Bekah T.- a bite of a cookie, a tickle and lots of hot boys. To Ivy- someone to cover for you when Julie can't and my love of softball. To Morgan- a place to crash, someone who won't say "I told you so," Step away from the boy, chocolate éclair bars, someone to ride to random baseball games with, a Burger King crown and a key to my dorm. To Torri- a ride home and the birds in the McDonalds drive thru. To Coach Copeland- a PowerAde, the Pendergrass Method, someone to be Miss Perfect, meticulous and always going to four decimal places. To Coach Porter- someone to owe a drink for three years, a volunteer for Drake duty, someone to aggravate you by dotting the i's with hearts and a wrist to tape before every volleyball game. To Mrs. Mac- someone with the ability to get you to cave into just about anything. To Cookie- a hug everyday and someone to say Mmm to. To MicC- a hug everyday and Peas. To McNair- Hey Cutie. To Reagan- someone to cheer for you and my love for volleyball. To Paul- the ability to pass all your classes, my love for sports, someone to fight with, talk to and drive you everywhere, a hottie and all my love. To the softball team- a state championship and a better, more-confident pitcher(a.k.a. Jessica). To the volleyball team- a state championship and WIPE THAT SMILE OFF YOUR FACE!

I, Stephen Roof, do bequeath to Will H. - the ability to make other people grow wings and double jump. To Coach Copeland- a book on how to write a report on a book you have not read and an indestructible bridge. To Grace- $100 gajillion and 50 cents.

I, Myles Rowe, do bequeath to Douglas Peake- some sense and someone to cook. To Dalton Haney- my number; don't screw it up. To Sarah Phillips- some tootsie rolls, Bruce, and a loss at speed. To Buck Coleman- my brain. To Colie Rowe- my judgment. To Bek Phil- a wedding ring. To Drew- some hetero and the Urban Dictionary. To Kat M.- someone to bother Alex. To Alex- someone to help you tolerate Drew. To McNair- a growth spurt and someone to take you to eat.

I, Cayla Sanders, do bequeath to Ms. Brown- a new thermometer and the penny on the ceiling. I put it there. To McNair Coleman- a Bio partner. To Kristen Keller- my parking spot. To Miss Mills- a Mountain Dew to drink IN class. To Coach Copeland- a new truck. To Colie Rowe- something you always look at in Biology! To Zae Johnson- someone to beat you on. To Mrs. Grant- a student worse than me. I love you! To Tara and Emily- a Biology book if you ever need it.

I, Brent Silvia, do bequeath to the golf team- a jerry and a state title. To the football team- a dummy. To Kyle Black- my spot on the golf team.

I, Joseph Talbert, do bequeath to G.- my ability to lay the word of P because you will need it. To Cookie- my ability to pick a fight and still not get mad and my ability to run a defense. To Love- my tight end skills. To McNair- a better older brother. To Buck- my ability to hit people at their shoulders and still get them down. To Dillon- my upper classman status. To Nee- someone else to pick on for being brown. To Brittany- the ability to smile all the time. To Dru- my ability to stay out of trouble and my love. To Drew M. - my respect. To Emily B. - the basketball court. To Alex M. - the best looking Homecoming date and NO GUYS. To Sarah P. and Bek P. - a new person to talk to in the hallway. To the teachers- my apologies for the troubles I have caused and my love. To Coach P. - respect-the best coach I ever had. To Coach Rob- a neck. To Alyssa- my ability to play three sports.

I, Candace Walters, do bequeath to Anna Grey- all my cheerleading skills, someone to take you to Columbia and someone to call you Morris. To Bud- the ability to be the best at Guitar Hero in the house and someone to rent Star Wars and Indiana Jones for you. To Blake- the ability to cheer on the mighty Meagles and many random Facebook messages. To Savannah- someone to point out that coach on the sidelines and someone to talk about random things during cheerleading. To Sarah Coleman- my cheerleading dance moves. To Kristen K.- the ability to get half off on every one of the problems on a Ms. Brown test. To Morgan- someone to talk to about cheerleading. To Ms. Brown- some movies to borrow. To Reagan- the ability to say the word picture correctly. To Mrs. Black- another awesome TA that will talk about nothing but Clive Owen, wasting hours of working time to go onto IMDB, make complaints to the Mike and Ike people and get free candy, endless hours of The Office, and John Krasinski. To Grace- the privilege of long hours working on the yearbook and Andy Samberg. To Mrs. Ladd- an editor that will give papers to the seniors much earlier. To Amanda Haynes- the ability to talk in class and many shark and squid dissections! To Andy T. - the ability to pick your family. To Becca Connor- a shark to cut open. To Ansley Parker and Jennifer Haney- the ability to be the best cheerleaders that RW has ever seen. To Coach Blair- someone to keep you up until 4am the night before your big date, tons of scary movies for you to scream at and luck for replacing the 2 best captains ever! To Coach Coleman- the humongous task of keeping Anna Grey straight and out of trouble, and a "Will you take a picture with me?" To Sarah P.- something amazing. To Drew- NICEAGE!

I, Thomas Wilkes, do bequeath to Alex- a hug and a game of horse. To Cookie- a big cousin, a pond to swim in and a little taco. To Drew- someone's house to do homework at and an Urban Dictionary. To Bekah- Track 7. What up, Bek? and my book bag as a pillow. To Sarah- a surprise. To Cail- good locker room talks about Carol. POW POW To Love- some cheese, a pair of shorts and someone to tell you your stress to. To Nee- a new Prince. To Brenton Randall Silvia- a bigger desk. To MicC- an upper body to go with your legs.

I, Davis Wilson, do bequeath to Michael Sanders- $12 for Hooters. To Jody Matthews- my racing skills. To my brother- shooting lessons and driving lessons. To Lee Renwick- a mud hole to take your truck through. To Kyle Black- a ride to the Chester golf course. To Amanda Haynes- a ride to Newberry. To Ryan Davis- my awesome golf skills. To Colie Rowe- some common sense. To Coach Halt- someone else to call Garcia. To Timmy Pullen- a piece of gum. To McNair Coleman- a car door. To Kristen Keller- a phone to call your mom. To Coach A.- a helmet so you don't get kicked in the back of the head with a football.

Last Will and Testament