

Julie Locklair

Julie, you are my first granddaughter, and you will never know how much you are loved. It was a wonderful blessing when God sent you into our family. You have become a beautiful young lady and a very smart one, too. The whole family is so very proud of you. I love you so much, and I pray for you every day. Have a wonderful life. Keep Jesus in your heart always. Love, MeMa

Julie, you are so sweet and special. You are such a loving, caring person, and we are extremely proud of you. You have brought us so much joy and happiness. Today is a cause for celebration; today is not an ending, it's a new beginning, full of promises and opportunities. All 18 years of your life we have loved you, protected you, and tried to introduce and encourage you to try many different things. We wanted you to decide what's fun or best for you. One day when you are all grown up, you will reflect on some of the things we told you and they will finally click and make sense. Once said: If you think you'll lose, you have already lost; never settle for the path of least resistance; whenever GOD closes a door, He opens a window; life's never easy nor is it fair; treat others as you would expect to be treated; tomorrow is a different day; don't be a quitter; keep your faith in GOD and follow His directions; everything happens for a reason, don't just give up; Mama was right. With all this said, we can see you achieving everything you choose to achieve. You have always said, "I want to make something of myself one day," and we truly know YOU WILL.
