

Pitching for a WINN

Most Memorable

"Beating Cardinal Newman in the bottom of the seventh inning towards the end of the season."

-Buchanan Coleman

"The most memorable part about this year's baseball season for me was having the ability to start on varsity in the 8th grade."

-Patrick Pope

HURLING THE ROCK

Senior G. Coleman winds up to release a fearsome fast ball to home plate. When he was not on the mound, he was giving his best to the team as the centerfielder.

1. Freshman Ron Price intensely watches the game from the dugout fence as a teammate bats. 2. Junior Dillon Cail winds up to release a curve ball to the opposing batter. 3. Seniors Drew Maass, Douglas Peake, C. Coleman, and Buck Coleman take a group shot together after the Senior Night game. 4. Dillon Cail looks to catcher Austin Knox for the next pitch sign. 5. Andy Taylor, junior, closely watches the action at home plate, ready for any pop fly balls. 6. Douglas Peake makes the play close as he slides safely into home plate. 7. Coach Roe Coleman and freshman Corey Davis discuss game strategy during a timeout. 8. G. Coleman eagerly waits to swing on the next good pitch, hoping to get a base hit.
