

Kindergartner Kitt Nicholson grimaces as the cold water trickles across his face and down his body. The warm May temperature made the wet events more bearable and fun.

● Landon Caulder squeezes his sponge as hard as he can while keeping an eye on his opponents. ● A group of fifth graders try to keep the beach ball on the towel while tilting it from side to side. ● Third graders piggyback one another in a relay race. ● Wyatt Wynn tries to steadily pour the water into his teammate's jar while Jason Branham sprays water at them. ● Rees Castles and her mom take a break to watch the Field Day events. ● Overseeing the beach ball game, Emily Brigman watches the fifth graders take part in the towel-ball tossing. ● A very wet Lily Hawkins hustles back to her teammates. ● Ethan Dean is careful not to spill his bowl of water. ● Brooke Pauley and partner Riley Simpson await the relay start signal.

