

Spring BREAK

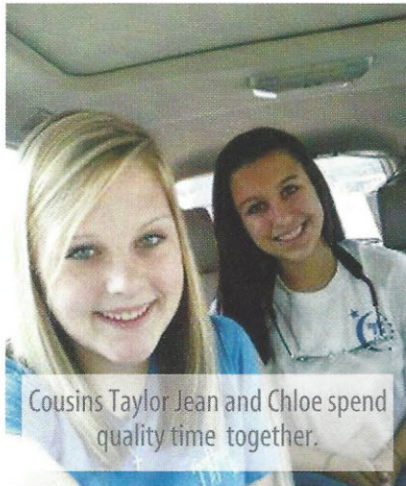

The arrival of Spring Break 2012 meant the arrival of everyone's favorite things: ten days of warm weather, leisure times, and afternoons spent with the best of friends. Although most students at Richard Winn enjoy classes, by the time this week in early April rolls around the rudimentary school routine can become too much to handle. With that said, Spring Break '12 was eagerly anticipated by students and teachers throughout the entire school. After the final bell sounded on Friday, March 30th, students scattered in every direction to prepare for the week off. Some went as far as Europe while others stuck around the fifty states. No matter where RWA students strayed, they definitely had the time of their lives.
