

The 2012 school year comes to a close... We lovingly embrace summer, and most of us will no doubt cling to it before we force ourselves back into the classroom. Fortunately, that dilemma is a couple months away. Throughout the summer, though, we will return to Richard Winn's hallways regardless. There will be practices, workouts, you name it. However, some of us won't be returning so soon. It may be a while- Homecoming or an occasional sporting event. That's the thing about Richard Winn. It's not confined to a building. Its network reaches far beyond concrete block walls; it reaches across various college campuses, into many homes, and even into different states... The school year twenty-twelve brought us together for events and activities of all sorts, from Homecoming week to Prom to Field Day to Graduation... We laughed, cried, cheered, hugged. We grew together. Just a family. Just getting it done...
