

Dressed to the Nines Both the senior class of 2013 (left) and the junior class of 2014 (right) pose for group pictures before heading to eat dinner and later arrive at prom. This was the first year that an old tradition was broken and a new one begun by taking pictures at the Windemere Country Club instead of Mrs. Haslett's house.

1. Practicing caution, Anna Grey Walters laughingly attempts to pin the boutonniere on her boyfriend, sophomore Conrad Sharpe. 2. Austin Costenbader and his date, Annie Laurie Mattox, take refuge inside the country club to take pictures out of the rain. 3. Mason Gibbons is followed by a gaggle of girls, all hoping to stay dry under his umbrella. 4. Emily Locklair, RW graduate, and her boyfriend, senior Corey Davis, walk hand in hand down the side walk. 5. These four prom-goers avoid the rain and take their pictures inside the room where the prom will be held. 6. Sarah Coleman and her date, Ben, are all smiles despite the torrential downpour they endured to get inside. 7. During a short break in the rainfall, Ron Price, Codie Revis, and their Chester County dates manage a few picturesque shots in front of the lake. 8. Sophomores Hunter Gibbons, Emily Brigman, Matt Taylor, and Jordan Parris get to enjoy an extra prom together because they were invited to go to prom by upperclassmen. 9. Being a gentleman, Zach Bowens holds an umbrella for his date, Blake Little, so she can carefully walk up the slippery steps.
