

For teachers, SUMMER means enjoying some well-deserved "down time" to spend with family. It's often used as a chance to take recertification classes and prepare classrooms for the new school year ahead. Administrators fill the summer with uninterrupted time to do things such as end-of-year bookkeeping, fill out transcripts, tweak the schedule, plan, and make decisions for the upcoming school year. These are busy times still, but they're not nearly as regimented and confining. Summer is about less stress and a time to reflect and re-focus!

Hello and welcome, SUMMER, you're always much anticipated by students, teachers, and administrators alike! Some things never change!
