

B-Team Basketball

The Future Hoop Stars

Under the direction of Coach Jason Haltiwanger, the B-team program continues to foster interest and love of round ball. For the novices, the skill level is noticeably improved over the course of the season while the older, more experienced players work on polishing their skills. Whether new to the game or not, these 4th - 6th graders worked well together to learn and have fun. It's obvious that the future looks bright for RWA Eagle basketball.

No Less Than Best. Marshall Gibbons brings the ball up the court. Marshall, a fifth grader, brings light to the future of boys' basketball.

Hot Shot. Ansley Parker gets ready to shoot the ball to advance her team. Ansley was one of two female players on the Kansas team.

1. Colten Hatchell dribbles past B Baker who was guarding him. 2. William Spang tosses a pass over to teammate Brandon Miller. 3. Dru Caldwell makes some moves to throw off his defender. 4. Kaitlyn Thoma protects the ball before going up for the shot while being guarded by three opponents.
