

Varsity Baseball

A "Winn"ing Tradition

The varsity baseball team demonstrated efforts above and beyond to come from a baseball team. This group of guys worked so very hard to be all that they could be, even with the challenges and tribulations that they may have faced during both their pre-season and season. Each teammate exemplified what it was like to be a true team player and most of all, a leader. Capturing the region title (7-1) for the first time in several years, the team advanced to the second round of the state playoffs before the season came to a halt.

Blocked! Senior catcher Austin Knox blocks the pitch to prevent a passed ball. Austin worked relentlessly throughout the season as a pitcher and catcher for the Eagles.

Who-Rah! Matt Taylor hustles down first base line to beat out the throw. Matt Taylor starred in many roles as the team's best utility player.

I Got It! John Coleman, a sophomore, lines up under the fly ball to catch it. John's speed and athleticism made him a good fit as an outfield starter.

In the Zone! Senior Hampton Caughman pulls back to release the pitch to the plate. Hampton could be found holding down the third base position when not on the mound.

He's Out! Blake Pauley, junior first baseman, catches the ball for an out. When not playing first base, Blake could be found on the hill as RW's only lefty pitcher.
