

Pink Out

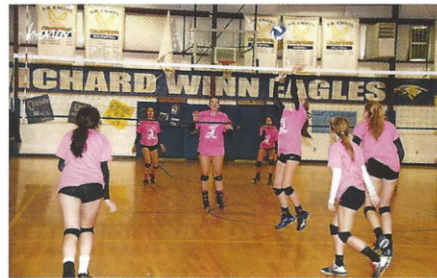

Pretty in Pink. All of the cheerleaders dress in pink for the annual Pink Out game. By doing this, they showed their support for the individuals who are still fighting cancer and also the ones in remission.

Dig Pink. After a game, the volleyball team recognizes Mrs. Ellison for her fight against Breast Cancer. She fought a hard battle throughout the school year and thankfully is now in remission.

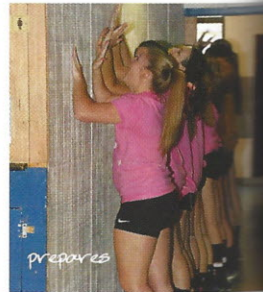

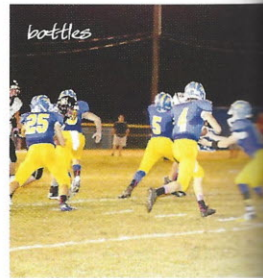

A Ribbon for Hope. RWA cheerleaders support the cause for Breast Cancer awareness by using pink pom poms during the game. It has become a tradition at Richard Winn to hold these special games to raise awareness.

Richard Winn holds the first Dig Pink game in honor of those who have Breast Cancer.

Richard Winn football team battles hard not only to win, but also to raise awareness for Breast Cancer.

The volleyball team prepares for their Pink Out game which was dedicated to Mrs. Amelia Ellison.

Scoring for Hope. The football team prepares to score a point by punting the ball. They used the motto "Punt for Pink" to further raise awareness for the fight for a cure.