

A Time for Thanks

Ileanna Derrick and Bella Westall portray two Native Americans in the lower school Thanksgiving Program. The program was a great way to get younger students actively involved in learning outside of a textbook.

Say Grace. The first graders bless the meal in the Thanksgiving play. The children enjoyed sharing what they had learned as they portrayed Pilgrims and Indians sharing the first Thanksgiving feast.

Abbi Pineda, Sarah Hughes, Jodi Bigham, and Brantley Caulder portray Indians in the program. These four girls had a blast performing in front of family and friends.

A Grand Celebration. The first, second, and third graders perform their Thanksgiving Program. It was entertaining for all to see the students put on this much anticipated performance.

A Song of Thanks. Kitt Nicholson, Maggie Hughes, and Caroline Poole sing along with enthusiasm. These three really enjoyed the opportunity to perform in the music program.

Nap Time. The kindergarten class pretends to sleep as part of a song performance. The songs with plenty of dance moves were a particular favorite for both the audience and the students.
