

Blast From the Past In honor of RWA's 50th birthday, the sophomore class invited past Miss RWA winners to walk the stage. Fran Jolly Shepard, Ashlee Spires Pegg, Frances Brown Anderson, and Perry Anne Robinson shared their experiences as pageant participants.

Speaking Truth Lydia Wilder, a sophomore, expresses her thoughts and ideas while controlling the stage during her interview question. She exemplified grace and confidence throughout the night.

Tough Competition Mrs. Young serves once again as the auditor for the panel of judges. This year's contest was no different from others when it came to final marks from the judges. Every contestant was absolutely stunning and deciding on one winner was nearly impossible.

Keeping It Classy The Miss RWA contestants perform their choreographed dance and are accompanied by vocalist Mitchell Gibbons. Mitchell sings the lyrics to "Everything" while dipping fellow junior classmate Cali Swearingen during his performance.

Calm Before the Storm Eighth grader Brooke Pauley enjoys peacefully pampering by her hair stylist prior to the hustle of pageant competition. Brooke showcased her inner beauty through style and poise while competing on stage.

#Livemusic Mrs. Marlise Hendrix captures the audience's attention with her beautiful voice. Mrs. Marlise has always been a favorite source of entertainment, and she has performed in many intermissions for RWA hosted events.

Mama's Girl Leila Bostrom is thrilled to share her night on the red carpet with her mother, MeMe Bostrom. Having her mother's trust and guidance in the final moments before taking the stage helped Leila relax and secure the title of Little Miss RWA.

A Girl's Best Accessory Mikaela Miller, Haley Glisson, Samantha Wilkes, Emily O'Connor, and Autumn Keys flaunt their most beautiful and glowing feature: their smiles. Mikaela and Haley appreciated their classmates attending and supporting them throughout the competition.

Work It Calee Thigpen, a sophomore, allows her genuine, vivacious personality to shine on stage. She carried herself confidently throughout the evening competitions of casual wear, formal wear, and personal interviews.
