

I

is for Intelligence . . . which increases with each bit of knowledge that we absorb . . . and awakens in us the desire for the better, higher things in life . . . lifting us to lofty ideals and ambitions . . . inspiring us to work, to reach the goals that we have set for ourselves . . . It is the fountain from which flows the dreams and hopes that fill our lives, and will ultimately complete them.

is for Originality . . . that wonderful "something" through which some of us lighten the busy and often dreary days of others by bringing humor and laughter into them . . . relieving the tensions of tiresome routines of study . . . and, for a while, allows our minds to wander from the tedious, burdensome problems of learning . . . to the lighter, freer side of life.
